DANA M. COTTON

TO Dana M. Cotton, do we, the Class of 1937, dedicate our Aberjona. Throughout our associations with him, his appreciation and friendship have enabled us to call him simply this—a real friend; and no more sincere a compliment can be paid to any man.

Class Poem

WHAT IS TO COME WE KNOW NOT

What is to come we know not. But we know
That what has been was good—was good to show,
Better to hide, and best of all to bear.
We are the masters of the days that were—
We have lived, we have loved, we have suffered . . . even so.

Shall we not take the ebb who had the flow?
Life was our friend. Now if it be our foe—
Dear, though it spoil and break us!—need we care
What is to come?

Let the great winds their worst and wildest blow,
Or the gold weather round us mellow slow;
We have fulfilled ourselves, and we can dare
And we can conquer, though we may not share
In the rich quiet of the afterglow
What is to come.

Our Instructors

MR. BERTRAM ALBRO. Pages of what would seem to the uninitiated merely a jumble of queer words with long marks over some of the vowels come to life under the expert guidance of Mr. Albro and his wise-cracks. There is never a dull moment in his classes for Mr. Albro has a refreshing sense of humor which keeps his pupils on the mark.

MR. OTIS ALLEY. Sometimes we wonder if Mr. Alley didn't miss his calling for besides being an eminent scientist, he is thoroughly acquainted with any subject you can name. Given a topic and an unlimited amount of time, Mr. Alley could hold his listener's attention for hours on end with his interesting and little known facts about anything and everything. A willing and capable organizer of any job asked of him, Mr. Alley certainly is an all-round good fellow.

MISS FRANCES G. ALLISON. Once again our library has been opened for the general use of the school with Miss Allison the capable and cheerful librarian. However, her duties in the library have not dimmed her enthusiasm and love for the Romance Languages, for any one of her pupils can tell you she certainly knows her Spanish!

MISS MARION BAILEY is the pretty effervescent lady who produces such remarkable plays via the Dramatic Society. In spite of the fact that Miss Bailey has been more or less separated from the majority of the student body this year, her personality and charm have kept the Dramatic Society as flourishing an activity as ever before. The academic year 1936-1937 may long be remembered as the year when the Freshmen were a body unto themselves and Miss Bailey put on "Why the Chimes Rang".

MR. EDWARD BARTLETT. "Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou, Romeo?" In Room 14 would be the answer if anyone should ask! The envy of all the boys, admired by all the girls and liked by teacher and student, Mr. Bartlett has made a name for himself in many ways since his arrival in the Winchester High School in '33. Besides being the assistant coach in the boys' sports, he is also an accomplished actor as we may recall from the preview of the Junior-Senior Class Play, "Mama's Affair".

MISS RUTH BENNETT. "The quick brown fox jumped over the lazy dog". If we were to invade Room 10 in the middle of some busy period, we might find a class of busy future stenographers carefully fingering out this odd sentence under the direction of Miss Bennett. This charming lady not only turns out expert typists but is the faculty advisor of the business end of the "Highlights". Underneath all this responsibility and seriousness there is a lively bit of humor. Did you ever see such a contagious smile? And those dimples!

MISS HELEN BRONSON is a living example of "How To Do Many Things at Once and Do Them Well". Always on the go, Miss Bronson seems to be everywhere at once. As head of the Commercial Department of the High School, she is on call for any typing, mimeographing, etc., that anyone and everyone finds for her to do. She never seems to get tired and always has a ready smile for your request.

MR. ARTHUR E. BUTTERS is one of the most popular members of the faculty. A wizard at any kind of mathematics, he can place geometric figures on the blackboard in such a manner as to cause dismay among all his geometry students. However, math is not his only interest, for golf is a favorite pastime. He shoots in the eighties, a score of which many would be proud to be able to boost. Here in school, he is the hard-working class advisor for the Juniors and what would we ever do without his help on the Prom Committee!

MISS GERTRUDE CARMICHAEL. "Freshies," we hope you realize what a friend you have in Miss Carmichael. Always ready to help and counsel, she does much toward starting you off on the right path in your High School Career. At the first thought you may think her a wee bit stern, but you will soon discover a lively sense of humor, and say to yourselves—"She's all right!"

MRS. ESTELLE COFFIN is the very efficient mistress of Room 7 in the Wadleigh. Perhaps few in the main building would know her since she is new this year, but to those who are in her mathematics and current history classes she is help supreme. Before coming to Winchester, she lived in Newton. She has also lived in Indiana and taught in a suburb of Chicago. Her hobbies are books and horseback riding. She has a remarkable library consisting of several hundred volumes.

MR. DANA COTTON is the man of a thousand friends. Wherever he goes, Mr. Cotton wins the friendship of all who meet him. Interested in everything, and especially horses, Mr. Cotton has made a place for himself in the hearts of all. Faculty advisor of the Traffic Squad, he has done a remarkable job maintaining peace and quiet in the corridors between periods. In our estimation, he is just about tops!

MR. FREDERICK DELZELLE. A master of the baton, Mr. Delzelle's skillful guidance has improved the orchestra 100 percent. For the last few years the orchestra has existed in name only, but now we have the real thing. He has studied abroad and has also attended the New England Conservatory of Music.

Other orchestras have also been fortunate enough to have him as director. Rumor says that there is soon to be a Mrs. Delzelle. May he carry on his fine work here in the future!

MR. VINAL G. GOOD. Better known as "Coach" to the boys, is that new teacher down at Wadleigh who has the flashy smile (and ties!). Stepping in to rather a hard place, his cheerful way with all, soon made him a favorite. Put at dual controls, he teaches the freshies both Algebra and General Science, while he spends his afternoons coaching football and baseball. When all is said and done, he of the Algeraic equations is really popular, but who is there to wonder at it?

MR. SAMUEL M. GRAVES. Ancient history is his subject and under his clever guidance the freshmen seem to absorb a large amount of it. However we suspect that the part of the period that both the pupils and Mr. Graves himself enjoy most is the time put in heatedly discussing politics. Outside of school we know him as a most successful actor, often seen in the productions of the "Little Theatre Beneath the Spire." The only objection most of us have to him is his most unpleasant habit of giving daily quizzes.

MR. WADE L. GRINDLE. Humorous, friendly and an understanding leader, he is genuinely interested in school activities and individual achievements. Numbering among his sports are badminton, and mountain climbing, with a flashy game of ping-pong in his brief leisure moments. He has proven himself an apt speaker at innumerable assemblies and is regarded as one of the school's most versatile actors. Mr. Grindle is distinctly a fine man to fill his all-important position of principal.

MISS VERNE HALL. A new teacher came to us this year and we were very agreeably surprised. Though quiet and unassuming, she has made her presence felt to both students and fellow teachers. Even if she didn't have much chance to prove her ability because of the lack of snow this winter, we know she made a willing and much-liked faculty advisor of the Girls' Ski Club.

MR. RAYMOND HAYWARD is that wit supreme who thought up a large percent of the gags used in the Vaudeville Show. Whenever someone wants a humorous title, a good story, or skit, Mr. Hayward always comes through with the best. Have you ever watched him make dimes disappear right under your eyes? Or perhaps we should say, try to watch? Mr. Hayward is that hard-working individual who directs the difficult job of getting out the A. A. Season Tickets in the Fall, and a mighty good job he does of it, too.

MR. ROBERT M. KEENEY. "Hence, loathed Melancholy!" For that is just what happens when you enter a class of Mr. Keeney's. You may expect to be called by any name but your own during this period, and, strangely enough, enjoy it immensely. The names of Bob, Bill, Dick, etc. are all just Julius (pronounced yul-yus) or some other such thing to him. Mr. Keeney has a knack of bringing to life the long dead but not forgotten (much to the disgust of many of us) Johnson, Keats, Shelley, etc. Described in modern language and explained in Mr. Keeney's own inimitable style, they seem like all right people!

MISS INEZ KELLER. That bright-eyed teacher who comes to school in a grey "Chevy" every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, is Haverhill's gift to the faculty of Winchester High. She is the teacher of Arts and Crafts, a new course in school this year. Her hobby is all kinds of handicraft. Long after school hours she can be found up in the art room trying out new ideas on crafts. She spends her summers down in Maine, teaching metal craft to Camp girls.

MISS HAZEL KINGSLEY is a comparative stranger to most of us, but those who do know her have many complimentary things to say about her. As you probably know, she presides over the Art Department of all the Winchester schools, and graces our fair school with her presence several times a week. In spite of this big job, Miss Kingsley always has a smile and a cheery word for everyone.

MISS ETHEL KNOWLTON is the possessor of that sunny disposition and cheery "Bonjour, Mademoiselle ou Monsieur". Even if you haven't taken French and you don't know what she is talking about when she reels off in that language, you can understand her radiant smile. Were it not for Miss Knowlton's expert management of the business and advertising end of the Junior-Senior Class Play, the class treasuries would not have so much to offer for the expenses of the Prom and Year Book.

MR. OTIS LEARY is another teacher of whom we wish we could see more. Reigning supreme at the Junior High School, we rarely see him for any length of time. Instructor of Manual Training, he is the guide of our carpenters. Under his guidance and inspiration many boys have made Kyaks which have brought them many hours of enjoyment during the summer. Not only is he proficient at making things out of wood, but he is also an expert at ping-pong, badminton and bowling.

MISS MARY MACKEDON. In her classes French becomes so simple that it really amazes her pupils to discover how much they have unconsciously learned. She has a wonderful sense of humor and is so human that she is far from being just "un autre professeur". But don't be misled into believing that one gets away with anything. Those who neglect their French soon find themselves spending the seventh period in Room 22. To almost everybody the French period is one of the pleasantest of the day.

MR. WENDELL DOOLITTLE MANSFIELD. Since 1925 Mr. Mansfield has been engaged in directing the fortunes of our various athletic teams. His formal title, if you please, is, The Director of Physieal Education, but everyone knows him and addresses him as "Coach". The result of his coaching have been many teams which carried the Red and Black through strenuous campaigns to championship honors. He is always seeking to increase his already vast and sound knowledge of sports, traveling frequently and reading avidly in quest of this purpose. The success of the Vau-Devil Shows have been due in a large part to his able supervision. As for his own athletic background outside of college competition he played professional football and basketball and is a consistently fine golfer.

MR. THOMAS L. MAYNARD. The faculty of W. H. S. acquired a big addition last fall in 6 ft. 6 in., 215 pound Mr. Tom Maynard. The school was quite shocked, one Thursday morning, to find that this epitome of masculine health was in the hospital; but we felt a little better when we discovered that the doctor had removed from him the biggest appendix that had ever been brought forth at that hospital. Mr. Maynard came to us from Rumford, Maine, where he coached a championship track team and a one-act play that was very successful in interstate competition. We have witnessed examples of his successful plays and will look for exceptional seasons with our track squads.

MISS E. GLADYS NIVEN. What a catastrophe it would be if Miss Niven and her capable force were to go on a sit-down strike and refuse to serve lunch! But we know this would never happen, for Miss Niven always has such attractive food waiting for us when that bell rings. Besides managing so efficiently the cafeteria, Miss Niven has a course in personality. We're certainly glad she decided to come to the Winchester High School instead of being a librarian as she once said she would like to be.

MISS EVA PALMER, the head of the mathematics department, is probably one of the best known people in the school. Each year, by her endeavours scores of students are pushed many steps nearer their respective goals. She has a knack of teaching possessed by only a few which would be an asset to any school. She is always ready to help the deserving, and to give the undeserving a considerable shove in the right direction. Those who have not had her in class have missed a great opportunity.

MISS FLORENCE A. PARKER. Whatever would we do without Miss Parker to guide us in our graduating difficulties and Yearbook decisions? Always ready to advise and counsel, Miss Parker might be called the "Voice of Experience" for the Seniors. However, let it not be understood that Miss Parker is all seriousness for there is a keen sense of humor hidden beneath her severity.

MRS. GUNHILD NELSON PARKER, still better known as Miss Nelson, is the cog in this great mechanism, the W. H. S., who for seven or eight years here, has been the main reason for the smooth running of the main motor, the office. Early last Fall the expected surprise was sprung and wedding bells rang on Columbus Day for her. We are sincere in wishing Mrs. Nelson Parker all the success and pleasure in the future that we have had from her in the past.

MISS LENA PEABODY. A remarkable disposition is self-evident in Miss Peabody. This year, for the first time she has had all the biology classes under her wing. She enjoys teaching immensely, that is, if the class is not too unmanageable. Her ideal class would be that one which required no discipline, so that all the time might be spent in constructive discussion of biology. Students who elect biology as a snap course are soon disillusioned for Miss Peabody knows it from A to Z and teaches it accordingly.

MISS MARION PROCTOR. She is very tiny but in spite of that she is really an awe-inspiring person. However, her pupils soon discover that beneath all that dignity she is amazingly friendly and great fun. She is a splendid teacher and the typewriting and shorthand students learn quickly and easily under her direction. Outside of school we understand that she enjoys both golf and skiing and is very proficient in both. Everyone knows her around school for her trim appearance and her good looking clothes.

MISS LILLIAN SHEA. Quiet, unassuming but very competent, Miss Shea is the fair lady who presides in room 8 in the Wadleigh Building. She came to Winchester in the year when we, who are Seniors, were Freshmen. However, if you remember rightly, we were in her classes for only a short period of time. However, in that short time we learned an immense amount of English. Here's to Miss Shea and long may she linger here!

MRS. ELLA STACY. Do 'ya wanna' date? Mrs. Stacy has plenty of them ranging from O.B.C. to 1937 A.D.—and what she can tell you about the events happening in that time! Whenever her black eyes begin to flash and she gives a playful poke in the ribs, you know that you are in for some kidding. The best of it is, she can take it right back from you! A grand sport, full of fun, and an excellent teacher, Mrs. Stacy is O.K. in capital letters.

MR. JOHN D. STEVENS. Friendly, hard-working, Mr. Stevens has certainly made a name for himself in the Winchester High School. Supervisor of the news page of the "Highlights," Boys' Ski Club Director, and Junior English teacher are a few of the many activities in which he is interested. We also learned that shooting and fencing are among his favorite sports. Believe it or not, Mr. Stevens rises at 6:30 on school mornings and is never late to school! All in all, he is an all-round, all-right faculty member.

MR. J. ALBERT WILSON. J. Albert Wilson of West Medford has been for the past four years the director of the W. H. S. chorus. Numbered in his musical positions are those of Congregational Church organist and choirmaster, and Winchester Choral Society director. A further interest in the Fine Arts is his love for painting in which he indulges in all year round. A vacation home on Cape Cod furnishes him with summer scenes, while week-ends see him in Maine in the winter, where snow panoramas take his fancy. He has become quite proficient in oils and has done some exhibitions in a Cape Cod barn which serves as his art gallery. Travel is another of his hobbies, but it is hoped that this desire will be restrained in future school terms so that he may continue his splendid work with the glee club.

MISS ROSAMOND YOUNG is the petite bit of sunny efficiency who adds so much to our "choice" faculty. The gym classes are something definitely not to be missed, and the girls' varsity teams are noted for their fair play and "winability." And then, of course, who of us could ever forget the breathtaking stage debut made in the team of Bartlett and Young.

Class of 1937

MARGARET LOUISE ABBE

"MARGIE"

Tall, poised, and dignified with a charming manner, Margie has won many friends in the short time she has been in Winchester. She is taking lessons in singing, and who knows but what some day she will be a famous opera star. Swimming and dancing, particularly, are the "weaknesses" in which she indulges a great deal.

Scholastic Intentions: Wellesley in 1938; P. G. in '37.

Ambition: Go on one of Beebe's expeditions, and live to see the turn of the century.

WARD ALLEN ALBRO

To Ward, every knock is a boost. His outstanding qualities are stamina and steadfastness of character. Ward is the lucky owner of an orderly and resourceful mind and these qualities are shown to an advantage in his scientific work, in which he is extremely proficient. Ward's impromptu remarks in French have made him the darling (?) of the class. For confirmation of this, see Miss Mackedon. Regardless, Ward is sympathetic, trustworthy, and loyal to any trust confided in him.

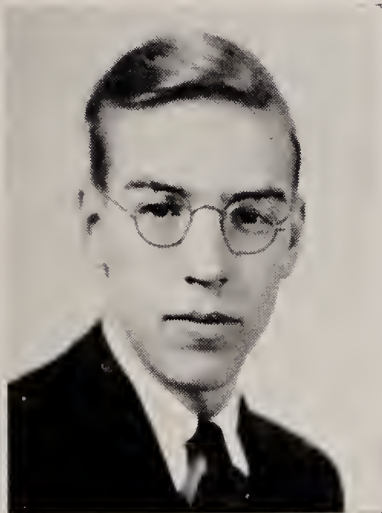

Born in South Royalton, Vermont, July 4, 1919.

Activities: Cross Country, Gym Team, Science Club, French Club, Dramatic Society, Red Cross, Thrift Club, Year Book Advertising Staff.

PHYLLIS FRANCES ALLGROVE

"PHILL"

Phyl is a new girl in our midst this year. She can say a lot in a few words, and is a rare package of shyness. To us, she is noted for a pleasing personality, a willingness to oblige, and a winning smile. Phyl has high ambitions and if we know her, they will be carried out to the letter.

Hobbies: Reading, Sewing and "I really have some dramatic ability."

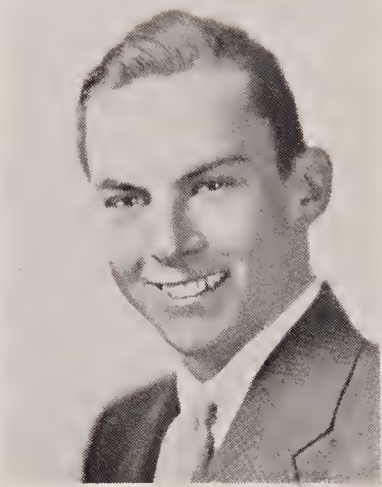

Scholastic Intentions: Night School in Shorthand and Typing.

Ambition: I would like to tour the United States.

HALFORD HENDERSON AMBLER

"HAL"

Halford is an ambitious young salesman, his main line of business being window-wash and neon signs. He's not a shirker and always does his homework, even if it is at dawn in chorus. In his spare time he plays the saxophone, but as far as that goes, his genius has been practically concealed from us. It must be his modesty!

Born in Detroit, Michigan, December 24, 1919.

Activities: Orchestra, Chorus, French Club, Gym Team, Swimming.

Hobbies: Stamps, Leather Work, Driving.

Scholastic Intentions: Military Prep School, and Harvard School of Business Administration.

Ambition: Advertising Business.

ELLA JOAN ARMSTRONG

Little imagination is needed to picture Ella as a brown-eyed sister of Pinocchio. She can be unexpectedly witty, with a passion to be stubbornly lazy. Art and Maine are her strongest outside attractions. Her drawings show promise of outdoing Petty. We shall always be curious to find out what would happen to Ella's enviable figure if she really stayed on one of the ever-threatening diets.

Born in Winchester, Mass., April 12, 1920.

Activities: Class Hockey, Class Tennis, Class Basketball, Chorus, Orchestra, Vaudeville Show '34, '37, French Club.

Hobbies: Drawing, Soiling, Swimming, and Sleeping.

RUSSELL BENJAMIN ARMSTRONG, JR.

"BUD" "RUSS"

"Lord, have you got Russell Armstrong up there?"

"Yes, Cupid, coming down. Check off, please: 6 feet, 3 inches; 4 digs of sarcasm; 7 puns of wit; a love of the sea, not to mention a susceptibility for brunettes; an over-dose of common sense and all the spirit you've got.—Signing off."

"Is that all, Lord?"

"Good heavens, isn't that enough?"

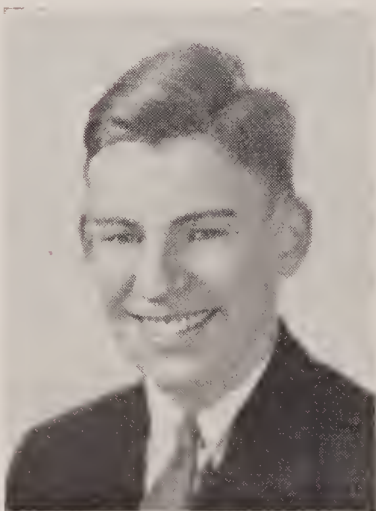

Born in Winchester, Mass., March 27, 1920.

Activities: Chorus, A. A., Intramural Basketball, Hockey, Traffic, Year Book Assistant Editor.

Hobbies: Fishing, Loafing, Brunettes.

Scholastic Intentions: Bates.

Ambition: You bet.

G. RAYMOND BANCROFT, JR.

"BANNY"

"Swing, baby, swing", that's George, folks, on the Leonard Field courts, swinging away, to use the vernacular, at the little white pill. To many of us, that seems unbelievable, for "Bannie" seems to barely move around school when we see him, but he's a "Tuf-ts" fellow all right.

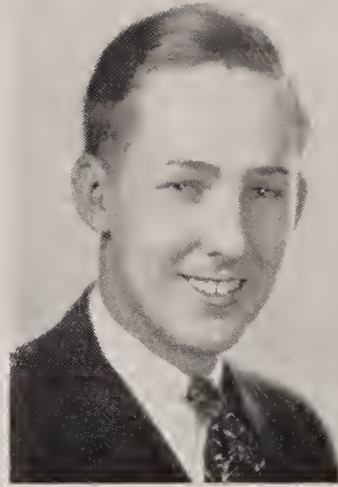

Born in Melrose, Mass., March 15, 1920.

Activities: Tennis '36, Class Basketball '34, '35, '36.

Hobbies: Tennis, Fishing.

Scholastic Intentions: Tufts.

Ambition: To be a surgeon.

FREDERICK R. BATES

"FRED"

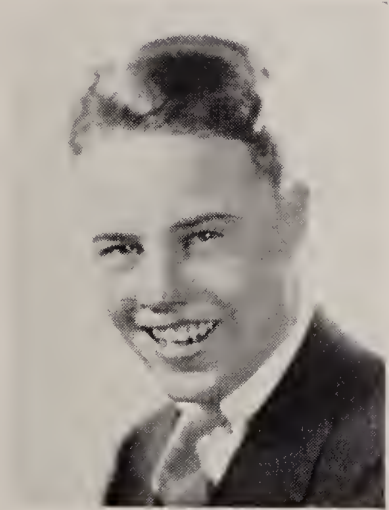

"Bates, the theorem! Have you learned Proposition One, Book I?" 2:11 P. M. "Come on, let's get out of this dump." Changing the subject, Fred's a staunch Red Sox rooter and he's willing to bet that they're good for the first division this year. How far is Concord, N. H. from here?

Born in New Haven, Conn., July 19, 1919.

Hobbies: Sports.

Scholastic Intentions: Dartmouth.

Ambition: Get somewhere.

ALLAN FRANCIS BELLEW

"BUD"

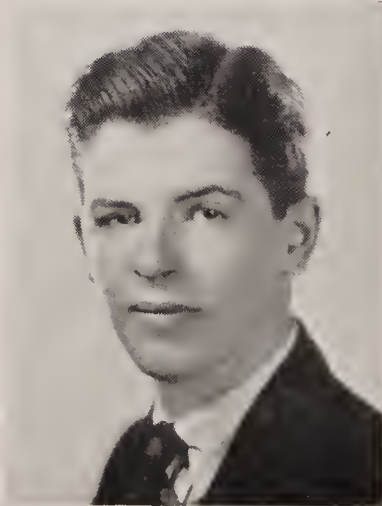

Winchester High's Class of '37 mighty atom. Bud likes track and cross country, swimming and driving. He is quiet, but has many friends, and those who know him can't help but like him. Miss Parker, however, thinks Bud giggles like a girl.

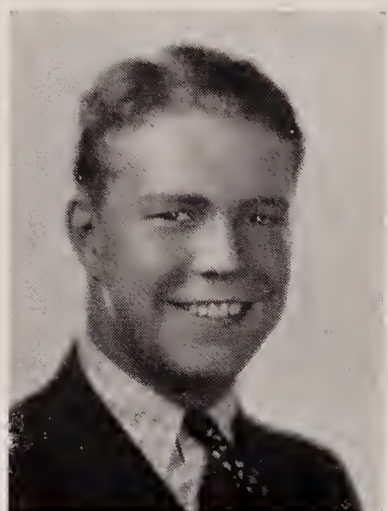

Born in Winchester, Mass., November 16, 1919.

Activities: Cross Country '35, Captain '36.

Hobbies: Fishing, Pool, Hockey, Swimming.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

ROBERT B. BLACKLER, JR.

"BOB" "BUNK"

During the week "Bob" may be found hounding the eight-ball, but on the week-ends he goes skiing with the "spirits" at Plymouth, N. H. How much skiing is done by Bob is guessed by many, but known only by the spirits themselves. However, his better half resides in Baltimore, which, thanks to modern transportation, can be reached easily enough.

Born in New York City, September 8, 1918.

Scholastic Intentions: St. John's College.

Hobbies: Skiing, Tennis and Canoeing.

Ambition: To get married after I finish high school.

KATHARINE BLANCHARD

"PETIE"

Sunny hair and a sunny disposition make a delightful combination, especially in "Pete". Come what may, "Pete" always manages to pass it off with that glorious giggle of hers which has endeared her to W. H. S. This merriness of hers is very contagious, and we understand that Bick and Reggie are not altogether immune.

Born in Winchester, Mass., June 29, 1919.

Activities: French Club, Dramatic Society, Vaudeville Show 36-37, Chairman of Advertising Board of Aberjona, Chorus.

Hobbies: Dancing, Riding, Swimming, Skiing.

Scholastic Intentions: Not definite.

Ambition: To make a man look up to me.

WALLACE BLANCHARD, JR.

"BUD"

Wallace is very quiet, both in and out of school. He spends much of his spare time building boats and model airplanes. But still, he manages to average a movie a week, and reads the latest movie magazines, and knows all the stars (Mae West, Wallace?) Perhaps a budding star is in our midst.

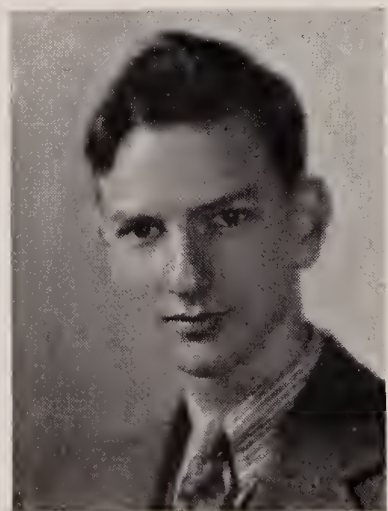

Born in Winchester, Mass., May 15, 1920.

Activities: Science Club, Baseball.

Hobbies: Model Making, Theatre.

Scholastic Intentions: M. I. T.

Ambition: To make a million dollars.

MURIEL ELAINE BLOMQUIST

"MUNI"

Her sunny disposition added to an enthusiasm for all activities makes her a very interesting person to know. She manages the tennis team and enjoys taking an active part in many other sports. In her own quiet way she is one of the most popular girls.

Born in New Britain, Conn., April 7, 1919.

Hobbies: Sports, Music.

Scholastic Intentions: Wheelock School.

Ambition: To "marry" with love.

WINONA ROSE BOARDLEY

"WINDY"

Winona is the girl with the pleasing smile and laughing eyes. She craves swing music and modern day fiction, (especially love stories, we are informed). We all have been attracted to and are aware of her pleasing personality; we wish her bon voyage in her life's journey.

Born in Winchester, Mass., April 24, 1919.

Activities: Chorus.

Hobbies: Dancing, Reading, Swing Music, Movies, Tennis.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

Ambition: To be a singer and dancer in a great swing band like Jimmie Lunceford, or Duke Ellington.

ARTHUR W. BOWLER

"HAPPY"

"Happy" is an ardent member of the Winchester Boat Club, and his V-8 can usually be seen parked there, except when he is doing a bit of reconnoitering in Melrose or Arlington, which is a great deal of the time. The whole school will miss "Happy", but after all, he can't be here forever. He is by no means a stranger in the gym, the auditorium, nor the office, and he spends a lot of time in all three.

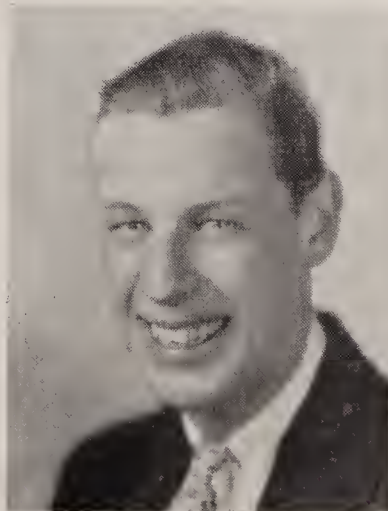

Born in Chicago, Illinois, April 21, 1918.

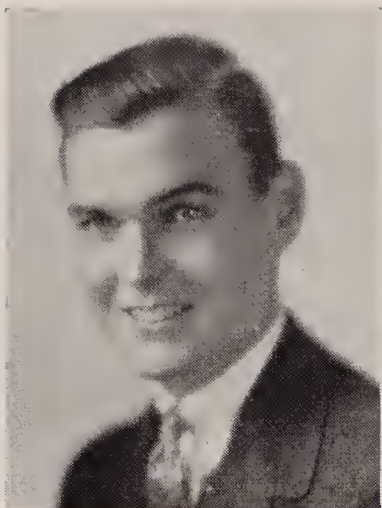

Activities: Basketball '32, '33, '34, '35, '36, '37, Chorus, Gym Team, Art Club.

Hobbies: Beautiful Girls, Bowling, Sailing, Shell Racing, Dancing.

Scholastic Intentions: Northeastern and Emerson.

Ambition: To sell Winchester a water well.

RAYMOND A. BROWN

"RAY"

At noontimes, Mr. Albro is Ray's favorite teacher; in study halls, the conference room is his goal. After school, well—and he plays the sax, too. One of the fur-biting Yankee wits has Ray, only one girl in the school being his equal. But yet, underneath this visible veneer, the man has a heart of gold!

Born in Winchester, July 3, 1919.

Activities: Track '34, Vaudeville '35, '36, '37 Orchestra '34, '35, Chorus '36 and '37, A. A., Intramural Basketball.

Hobbies: Music, Dancing, Swimming, and the Clarinet.

Scholastic Intentions: Prep-School and Bowdoin.

Ambition: To Benny Good-man.

DOROTHY BRUNO

"DOT"

If she ever had to shout heartily or say something fast she would be lost, for somehow her voice just doesn't do things like that. The only contradiction to her complete femininity is her strong tennis game, with which she can take over many of the sex which she refuses to imitate, but which she inevitably attracts. Sympathy and goodnaturedness radiate from her and make her the popular girl that she is.

Born in Cambridge, Mass., August 19, 1920.

Activities: Varsity Tennis '35, '36, '37, Basketball '36, '37, J. S. Class Play '36 and '37, French, Ski Club, Vaudeville Show '34, '37, Class Secretary. '34, Traffic Squad '36 and '37, Class Prophet.

Hobbies: Eating Grapefruit and Playing Tennis.

Scholastic Intentions: Tech—Some Day.

Ambition: To talk fast.

DOROTHY VIRGINIA BUCKLEY

"DOT"

This lassie is a pianist of no mean ability, and when "Dot" lets loose with her flying fingers, she catches the eye as well as the ear. Whether it is a typewriter or a piano keyboard she is pounding, she pounds it with gusto. Next time you see "Dot" notice her cheery smile and twinkling eyes, framed by those delicately arched eyebrows. She has a yen for Benny Goodman and his swing music, and we hear her ambition is to lead a band like Benny's.

Born in Lynn, Mass., November 13, 1919.

Activities: A. A., Vaudeville Show, Chorus.

Hobbies: Movies, Skating, Piano Playing.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

Ambition: To lead an orchestra as good as Benny Goodman's.

BETTY ANN BUDD

"BETTE"

Betty Ann is known by her laughing brown eyes and her tumbling waves of black hair. Some friends say she is dreamy, but to all outward appearances, she seems quite the contrary. The only dream we know of is a dream which we hope will become a reality, that of singing over the radio. You may hear her golden voice coming through the air in the future. It's a worthy ambition, Betty.

Born in Lowell, Mass., November 4, 1920.

Activities: Dramatic Society, French Club, A. A.

Hobbies: Ping Pong, Clothes.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

Ambition: Sing a jazz song with Jack Benny and his violin.

ALINE VIRGINIA BURSLEY

Although this golden-haired bit of femininity seems shy and quiet, there are times when she pours out a stream of interesting talk on the most unusual subject, her feelings often portrayed by the quickly changing expressions that pass over her face. Such puzzled ones in History, Aline! She is a combination of many types, funny, but always friendly. Don't forget, Aline, the expression is "pleasingly plump."

Born in Melrose, Mass., January 5, 1920.

Activities: Dramatic Society, A. A., French Club.

Hobbies: Ping-Pong, Skiing.

Scholastic Intentions: Colby Junior College.

Ambition: Doctor's secretary.

FRED MILLER CAMERON, JR.

We don't know what is behind those dark eyes, that serious face, we can't even guess. It's a conglomeration of many things. Let's look closer, is that the image of a runner, a Harvard graduate, a world-wanderer? Only time can tell concerning the latter two, and in fifteen years it will probably tell plenty. To some, Fred is an enigma, but to others he's "tops".

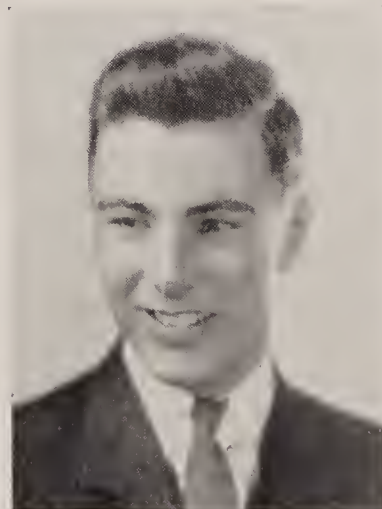

Born in Lowell, Mass., December 29, 1920.

Activities: Dramatic Society, Cross Country, Cum Laude, Track.

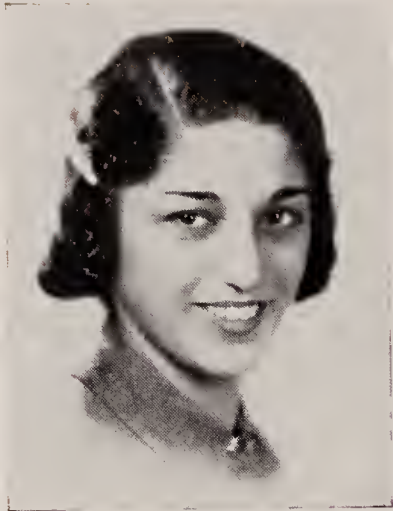

Hobbies: Singing "I Love Life".

Scholastic Intentions: Alcatraz.

Ambition: To sing low "C".

MARY CAMILLA CAPONE

Mary is the very spirit of good-naturedness. Every morning she has a cheery greeting for her friends. She's always ready to do anything, especially if it's a social function. She calls a good many of her friends by the nick name of "Cutie", but we wonder if she really means it! She doesn't want it noised about, but her own sobriquet is "Babe".

Born in Winchester, Mass., January 24, 1920.

Activities: A. A., Chorus.

Hobbies: Movies, Swing Music, Swimming.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

Ambition: Take life easy.

PAUL HENRY CAPONE "PECK"

"Peck" takes a great deal of good-natured chafing about his nose, but he manages to keep his temper within bounds, with a few exceptions. We're not stating that Paul is addicted to mountain climbing, but he has been seen constantly toiling up one of the highest hills in town. Despite "Peck's" somewhat boisterous mannerisms, we pronounce him as "a bit all right."

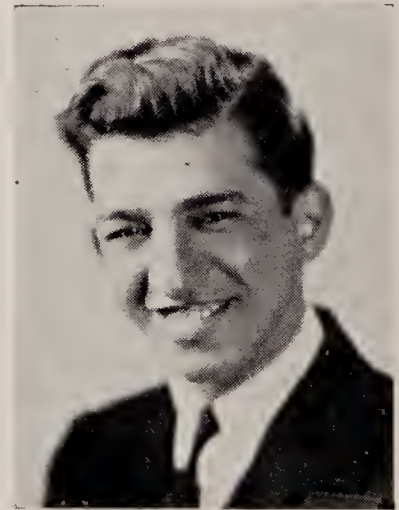

Born in Winchester, Mass., July 26, 1917.

Activities: Football '36, Hockey '35, '36, Chorus '32, '33, A. A., Class Basketball '37.

Hobbies: Bowling, Football, Hockey.

CLARA ELIZABETH CARLSON

"BETTY"

"Betty" is one of the hardest working and most conscientious girls in the Senior class. She is highly esteemed in the eyes of her friends and her schoolmates because of these admirable traits. She has the worthy ambition to be the perfect secretary, but also fosters the desire to teach a certain Tech boy the rudiments in the art of dancing.

Born in Dorchester, Mass., July 27, 1919.

Activities: Chorus, Cum Laude.

Hobbies: Dancing, Skating, Music, Driving Hepzibah.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

Ambition: To own a trailer and tour the U. S. with Carolyn.

EDITH CAROLYN COLLINS

"EDIE"

During the icy months of the year, she does quite a bit of skating with a certain warm friend of hers. "Edie" might be very properly termed as an all around "good sport". She has an easy and cheery smile, and her host of friends testify to this pleasing part of her makeup.

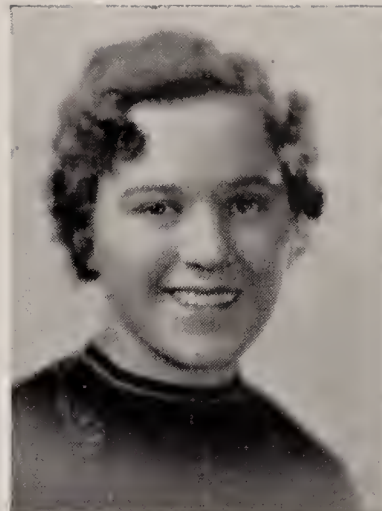

Born in Cambridge, Mass., August 9, 1918.

Activities: Cum Laude, Chorus.

Hobbies: Skating, Dancing, Walking with Fred (Guess?)

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

Ambition: To be a typist.

ELVIRA MILDRED COLUCCI

"PATTY"

"Patty" is a swell pal to everyone, and a real sport, as is evidenced when she has a hockey stick in her hands. A swell dancer, too, is "Patty," especially when she's at the Rainbow Inn. Her ambition is to get a good position as a secretary, and we predict that if ever the chance comes, she'll be an asset to her employer.

Born in Winchester, Mass., September 18, 1919.

Activities: Varsity Hockey '35, Class Basketball '34, '35, Class Baseball '34, '35, A. A., Chorus, Highlights, Cum Laude.

Hobbies: Swimming, Handkerchiefs, Dancing, Buying Clothes.

Scholastic Intentions: P. G. or Bryant and Stratton.

Ambition: To be a private secretary.

GEORGE FORLEY CONKLIN

"GEE-GEE" "CONK"

George is a new comer to W. H. S., and he has certainly rung the bell during his short sojourn here. He seems like a quiet sort of fellow, but if you'd been present that day at the State House, you'd not hold this opinion. He takes great delight in "kidding" the underclassmen, especially the girls. A good drummer, and a good sport, George is a worthy representative of the Pine Tree State.

Born in Elizabeth, New Jersey, August 20, 1916.

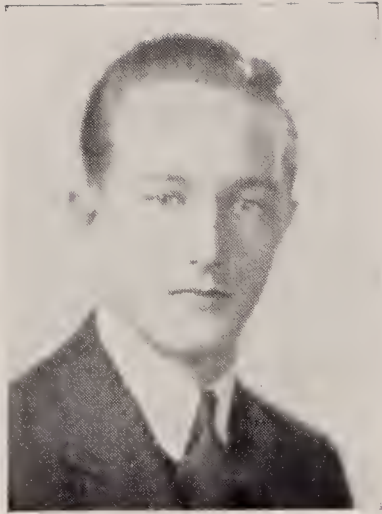

Activities: A. A., Ski Club '36 and '37, Dramatic Club '36 and '37.

Hobbies: Radio, Swimming, Rifle Shooting, Riding Horses, Going to Maine.

Scholastic Intentions: Aviation, Cushing Academy '37-'38, Bates College '38-?

Ambition: Be an executive at Lever Brothers.

DANIEL EDWARD COSS

"SLICKER"

Slicker has been in the limelight ever since he entered high school. He has starred in football, baseball, and basketball, and also he is an adept participant in the arts of swimming and diving. During the summer months he has been seen frequently at Foley Beach displaying his art to certain "friends." "Danny" can do anything and do it well even when it comes to translating Spanish.

Born in Medford, Mass., February 25, 1919.

Hobbies: All Sports, including Billiards.

Scholastic Intentions: To attend a Democratic University in Maine or Vermont.

Ambition: To succeed Willie Hoppe as billiard king.

CHRISTINE CRAVEN

"CHRIS"

Success is the result of anything undertaken by Chris from a dance and stage decorations to driving the black Ford. Her father is a Navy man, but Chris seems to root for Bowdoin. The tide of her friendships will always be refreshing and high.

Born in Norwich, Conn., December 20, 1919.

Activities: Dramatic Club, Prom Committee, A. A., Dance Committee, "Why the Chimes Rang"

Hobbies: Horseback Riding, Archery, Paddling my own Canoe.

Scholastic Intentions: To go places!

IDA MAE CUCOLO

Her twinkling, dancing feet will carry her to fame; if she doesn't die of indigestion first. Ida's daily lunch consists of anything that is edible and plenty of it. Just curious—what's the big attraction at Pinehurst, Ida? Is it the piano playing or just the janitor's son?

Born in Winchester, Mass., July 5, 1919.

Activities: A. A., Chorus, Vaudeville Show '35, '36, '37, Class Basketball '34, Cum Laude, Class Hockey '34.

Hobbies: Eating, Dancing, Piano, Bowling, Movies, Collecting Boys' Necktie Pins.

Scholastic Intentions: Business School.

Ambition: To be as good a dancer as Eleanor Powell.

ELBRIDGE G. DAVIS

"EGLEBERT"

When "Eglebert" enters, he invariably makes his presence felt. His exits are equally dramatic; for instance, his walking out of Miss Mackedon's room with a cigar in his mouth. His intelligence is astonishing both considering and not considering his lack of application. He's the lad who may be seen ringing Mr. Keeney's doorbell at 11:59 P. M. the final day of the ranking period, with his back work under his arm. But he comes through, and that's what counts.

Born in Cambridge, Mass., July 16, 1919.

Hobbies: Dabbling in Chemistry, Women, Working Hard.

Scholastic Intentions: Harvard Medical School.

Ambition: To be able to kiss her without drooling.

FRANK DEMINICO

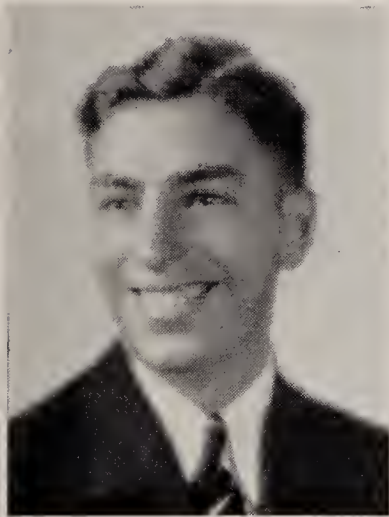

"Better late than never" must be Frank's motto. Whether it's graduation, studies, or sports, he gets there sooner or later; and there are other examples too. "Stutz" likes the winter season, when hockey is in order, and he can be seen either at Long or at Winter Ponds. Reports have it that he is not adverse to doing a little night skating also.

Activities: Intramural Basketball, Baseball, Football.

Hobbies: Bowling, Swimming, Hockey.

Scholastic Intentions: Notre Dame.

Ambition: To be a winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile automobile race.

ROBERT LAWRENCE DONAGHEY

"RUSTY" "BROTHER"

"Rusty" goes in for all things athletic in a great big way, featuring prominently in football, baseball, and basketball. However, 'tis that "Rusty's" particular love is baseball, and being a catcher, he picks the men off the bases as adeptly as he picked Jean. He also is a prominent member of the "Millionaires," Winchester's contribution to minor league baseball.

Born in Winchester, Mass., December 29, 1918.

Activities: Baseball '35, '36, Football '36, Basketball '35, '36.

Hobbies: All Sports.

Scholastic Intentions: Aviation School.

Ambition: To pilot a transport plane.

FRANCES ANNE DONAHUE

Frances is the girl well remembered in Mr. Albro's Latin Class. The past tense is used because one day in the sight translation, a very gruesome passage was reached. The next day, when the passage was repeated, Frances was missing; she had left the class. But you mustn't judge Frances by this. Before she left Malden, she was elected editor-in-chief of the school magazine, a coveted position. It might be added that Frances is still very loyal to Malden.

Born in Malden, Mass., January 17, 1919.

Ambition: Fashion, stage design.

MARIE ADELAIDE DONAHUE

Marie has not been very active, but we found that she would have been treasurer of her class if she had remained in Malden for her senior year. But to see Marie at her best, it is necessary to observe her playing basketball in the gym. She usually plays guard, and if you lay your hands on the ball, you must be the forward she isn't guarding. We only wish we could have had her for all four years.

Born in Malden, Mass., March 24, 1920.

Ambition: Dietitian.

JOHN HENRY DOWNS

"J. HENRY"

"J. Henry" has wielded the proverbial "big stick" in high school affairs since his advent into this venerable institution. "Downce," as J. Keeney will have it, is a familiar sight in the auditorium, corridors, conference room, and Manchester Field. It may seem foreign to relate that "J. Henry" has time for other interests, but time he has, and, girls, you should see him swing it. A worthy ambition for all members of the class of '37 might be set forth in one phrase: "To catch up with J. Henry Downs."

Born in Arlington, Mass., November 12, 1919.

Activities: Track '36, Captain '37, Mansfield Cup, Editor-in-chief of Aberjona, Class President '33, President of Thrift Association, President of Red Cross '36, Business Manager of High-lights.

Hobbies: Dancing, Skiing, Hiking.

Scholastic Intentions: Bowdoin.

Ambition: The same as Dot Fitts'.

GEORGE ALBERT DREWSON

"GEEGEE" "BUD"

Being one of the boys, "Bud" toasts his tonsils in Newton unless Alcyone is on the loose. George is, no doubt, the best bowler in the Senior class, and is seldom "fish" for the "alley cats". In spite of the fact that George fits with W. H. S. sub-debs, he enjoys traveling (from Conn. to Ohio). Please don't ask "Bud" to fix you up with Aldine. It can't be done; we know.

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, December 16, 1917.

Activities: Vaudeville Show '37, Tennis Team '37.

Hobbies: Dancing, Tennis, Newton Night Life, Golf, Driving, Bowling.

Scholastic Intentions: Lehigh via Bryant and Stratton.

Ambition: To prove to my father that I can really work.

BARBARA MARY EKERN

"BABS"

Did you see all that snow we had this last winter? Grand weather for ski clubs, wasn't it? Babs was prominent among those hypothetically weeping and wailing and tearing their hair. And well she might, for she organized the girls' ski club and saw it through to its sorrowful end. However, skiing is not her only job, and when the fur (or snow) does not fly, she is always ready to spring a new and original idea at you, or to brandish a mean tennis racquet.

Born in Cambridge, Mass., September 18, 1919.

Activities: Varsity Tennis, Cum Laude, Organizer of Ski Club, Exchange Editor, Highlights.

Hobbies: Cross-Stitch, Bicycling, Walking.

Scholastic Intentions: Smith.

Ambition: To be outstanding in some profession.

JOHN ELLIOTT

"JACKIE"

We don't know whether to have "Biffer" in this year book, or to let the Woburn year book take care of him, for he is a familiar figure in both Woburn and Winchester. "Jack" really has a pugnacious countenance, whence the nickname "Biffer", but when he bursts into his chortle you perceive that the face is lying. "Jack" likes to stretch it a bit, but on better acquaintance you will find out that he's a bit of all right.

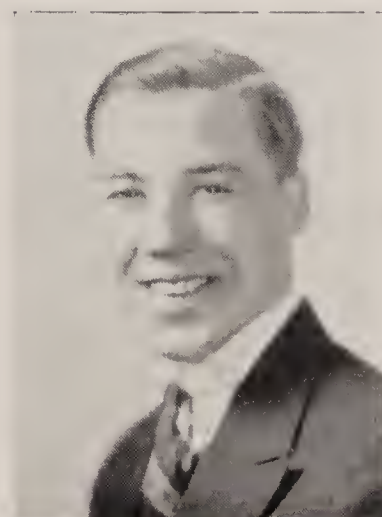

Born in Winchester, Mass., September 17, 1919.

Activities: Class Basketball '34, Red Cross, Intramural Hockey '35.

Hobbies: Collecting Necktie Pins, All Sports.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

Ambition: To beat Slicker Coss in billiards.

RHODA COLCORD ELLIOTT

"RHODY"

Rhoda is Miss Kingsley's pride and joy. Not to be satisfied with reaping honors in our own school art classes, she also attends Mass. Art in quest of more. Anyone who has observed Rhoda in action will agree with us that many contributions to art will come from her trusty right hand.

Born in Winchester, Mass., November 16, 1919.

Activities: Dramatic Club '35, Thrift Association '34, Executive Board of Science Club '35, '36, '37, French Club '37.

Hobbies: Antiques, Sewing, Music, Art, Cooking, Visiting places of historic interest, especially colonial houses.

Scholastic Intentions: Chamberlain School.

Ambition: To travel. Be a stylist.

DAVID WARREN EMMONS

"EM" "DAVE"

A man about school is "Em", the greatest of all human cooks, especially on one of those Duxbury excursions. "Em" loves basketball, and doesn't fare so badly up around Dartmouth Street during the romantic season (from January to December). We'll remember him through the ages for his fast and witty come backs. Will it be Sullivan Square or Park Street, "Emmy"?

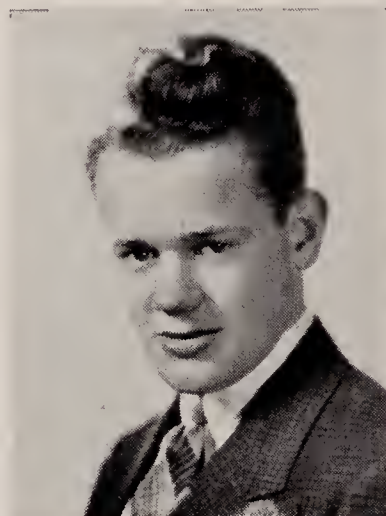

Born in Arlington, Mass., September 16, 1918.

Activities: Varsity Basketball '35, Traffic Squad '36, Class Treasurer '37, Asst. Business Manager of Year Book, Class Basketball '35, '37.

Hobbies: Camping, Stamp Collecting.

Scholastic Intentions: Middlebury College.

Ambition: Successful business man.

CARL E. ERICSON

"Carl" divides his time between Winchester, Lexington and Arlington, with Arlington getting the lion's share of it. He also enjoys horseback riding, and is said to be a master at the art. Carl is of a quiet and serious nature, but we know he changes somewhat, when he is away from Winchester.

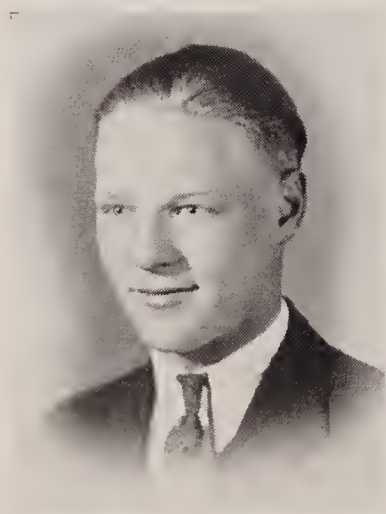

Born in Roxbury, Mass., August 12, 1918.

Activities: Intramural Basketball '33-'34, Varsity Football '34, '36.

Hobbies: Women, Outdoor Sports, Riding.

Scholastic Intentions: Pennsylvania Military College.

Ambition: Become an army pilot.

LORETTA ESTHER ERRICO

"NICKIE"

The old saying "Good things come in small packages", might well apply to "Loretta". She is another one of those with an ambition to be a private secretary. We predict that she will make an excellent one, for she is a rapid and efficient worker. Loretta has the habit of going down town every Saturday night! We're just curious.

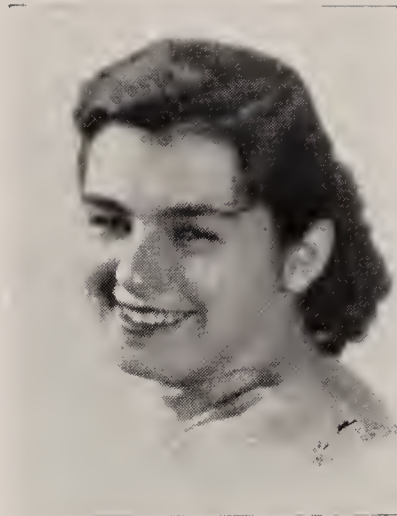

Born in Winchester, Mass., September 5, 1918.

Activities: Hockey, Baseball, Cum Laude, Chorus, Year Book Staff, Basketball.

Hobbies: Dancing, Handkerchiefs, Pins, Movies, Roller Skating.

Scholastic Intentions: None.

ERNEST LEONARD FERULLO

"ZEKE"

"Zeke" is a nightly visitor, during the summer time, at Horn Pond; whether he is in quest of beauty or solitude, we have yet to ascertain. He is a roller skating enthusiast, and may be frequently seen at the Tech skating rink. A good hockey player, and a good sport, "Zeke" stands high in the estimation of his friends.

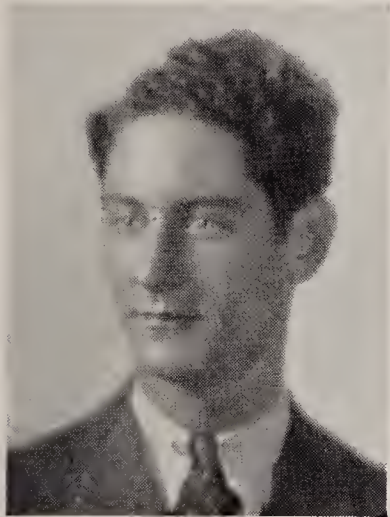

Born in Woburn, Mass., May 28, 1920.

Hobbies: Sports, Dancing, Collecting Souvenirs.

Scholastic Intentions: Bentley School of Accounting.

Ambition: To travel the U. S. in a trailer.

DOROTHY LOUISE FITTS

"DOT"

Wood Dot? Dot certainly would fill the requirements of being the class "whizziest," for, besides getting a maximum of marks with a minimum of study and being an ever brightening friend, she is a flash at tennis, hockey, pool, vocalizing and piano playing, football rooting, and "WHIZ" cracks. With her gold W. H. S. football as an inspiration, Dot will surely be a most successful Smith gal.

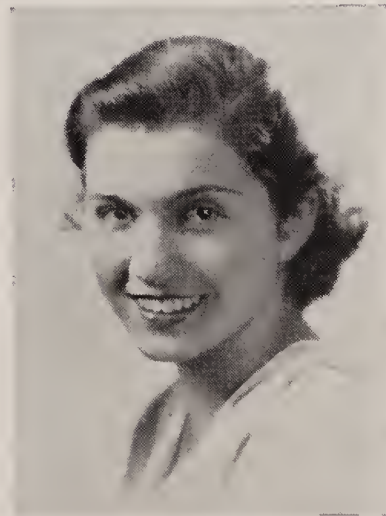

Born in Portland, Maine, July 1, 1919.

Activities: Varsity Hockey '36, '37, Chairman of Social Committee '37, Class Secretary '37, Junior-Senior Prom Committee '36 and '37, Vaudeville '36, '37, Chorus.

Scholastic Intentions: Smith.

Ambition: None whatever until at least 11 A. M.

WILLIAM FRANCIS FITZGERALD

"FITZ" "DOC"

"Fitzy" has a tremendous appetite for all things of either a sporting or a culinary nature. We suspect that he spends more time on the sports section of the evening paper than on his homework. For evidence or proof of this, see Miss Palmer. "Fitzy" is a sports writer for the Highlights at the present time, and we pick him to fill the shoes of Grantland Rice, before long.

Born in Boston, Mass., October 10, 1919.

Activities: Chorus; French Club; Sports Editor, Highlights; Inter-Class Tennis; Baseball.

Hobbies: All Sports.

Scholastic Intentions: Prep School or P. G., then Boston College.

Ambition: To replace Lou Gehrig on the Yankees.

VIRGINIA MAE FOREMAN

"GINNIE"

Ginnie's flashing brown eyes filled with laughter, sleek blond hair, sunny smile, and ready wit make her one of the most popular girls in the senior class. Talk about pep! She was given a double portion! She is dependable and always prompt. Already she holds a position in town, and with her pep and dependability is bound to go far; although it looks now as if she may be a minister's wife.

Hobbies: Drawing, Collecting China Animals.

Scholastic Intentions: I plan to work after graduating.

CATHERINE GALLELLO

"KAY" "KITTY"

CHARLOTTE MAE GILE

You might think that Charlotte is shy, but you would get a surprize if you saw her in the role of a proctor in a boys' school. However, she wouldn't care for that kind of a position, because a certain boy in Woburn gets all her attention. Her delightful giggle, alone will see her through!

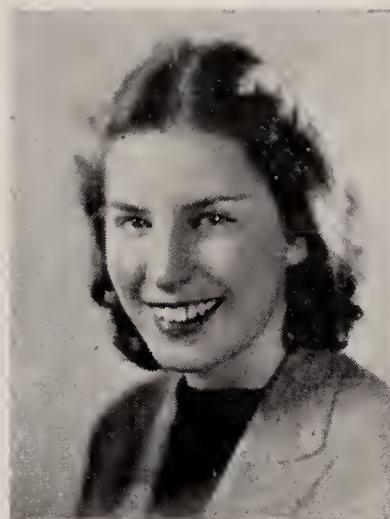

Born in Dedham, Mass., November 20, 1919.

TERESA E. GILLOTTE

"GIGGIE" "TREE"

Teresa is one of the petite members of our class, with a sunny smile and an exhilarating disposition. This dark-haired damsel has a kind word and smile for everyone whom she meets. Teresa is one of those 8:14½ A. M. girls who hurriedly tear up the school walk from Monday through Friday!

Hobbies: Bowling, Dancing, Skating, Collecting Boys' ties and collar pins, Going to the movies.

Ambition: To get married.

WALTER GLEASON

"WALT"

So far as we can discover, Walter is the only member of the senior class to set up his own bachelor quarters, during his high school career. In spite of the hardships of that state, he seems to have survived, smiling as he always does. Whether he always smiles, when he works on his radio is another matter, but when discussing it with Mr. Alley he seems to have a very amusing time.

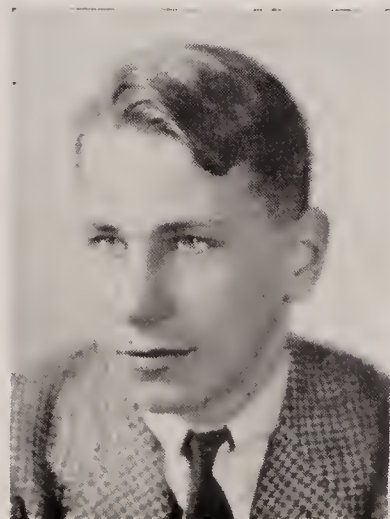

Born in Winchester, Mass., March 28, 1920.

Activities: Ski Club.

Hobbies: Skiing, Radio, Football.

Scholastic Intentions: Worcester Tech.

Ambition: To be an orchestra leader.

JOHN J. GIULIANI

"MURPH" "GOO"

Here is one of our quiet boys who spends his spare school time sleeping in study halls. A good worker is this dark curly haired senior, his only diversion being hiking. Reports have it however that he dislikes hiking alone. A serious youth, yet the possessor of a good sense of humor, John will get there and he'll get there through his personality.

Activities: Thrift Association '34; Traffic Squad '34; A. A.; Art.

Hobbies: Eating, Sleeping, Walking.

Ambition: Travel around the world.

ELIZABETH MARY GLENDON

"BETTY"

Betty appears to be one of the shyest girls in school, but you should see her outside! She represents a rare type in 1937—a quiet, modest, young lady with equal parts of sweetness and spirit. She likes sports and is one of the most faithful rooters that our team possesses. Talk about being forgetful, Betty takes the prize. She almost forgets to come to school, as shown by the many times she crawls in at the warning bell.

Born in Winchester, Mass., February 22, 1920.

Activities: French Club; A. A.

Hobbies: Swimming, Tennis, Skating.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided.

Ambition: Honorable but indefinite.

HELEN A. GOODNOUGH

"DUTCHIE"

Helen has a sunny disposition and a delicious giggle. Boys, wouldn't you like to wake up and find a pretty nurse taking your pulse? You may; Helen wants to be a nurse. Can't you just picture her in a white uniform, stealing male hearts? The little gold football that Helen used to wear around her neck is now back in "Long John's" possession, but how long will it stay there?

Born in Winchester, Mass., February 27, 1920.

Activities: A. A.

Hobbies: Handkerchiefs, Bracelets.

Scholastic Intentions: Work.

Ambition: To take dictation successfully.

HELEN GERTRUDE HANNON

Helen is that jolly person who spends her spare moments in Room 10 helping others. Although she has been with us but one year, her pleasant smile and pleasing personality make us regret that she hasn't been here all four.

Born in Winchester, Mass., September 24, 1919.

Activities: Dramatic Club; Chorus; Yearbook Staff.

Hobbies: Dancing, Going to the movies.

Scholastic Intentions: Work or P. G.

Ambition: To be a private secretary.

ROBERT HARKINS

"RED" "BOB"

"Red" is the lad who's always selling something from class play tickets to tickets to the football games. He takes tickets and he sells them, his favorite stand being in the lunch room after school. We predict a successful business career for "Red," but we wonder if his sales talk could influence Miss Palmer into giving him a "B."

Ambition: Lawyer.

JAMES WILLIAM HARRIS, 2ND

"BUCKY" "JIM"

In every kingdom there is a king, likewise in every class there is one outstanding leader. In the class of 1937 Jim is this being. His versatility has brought him into close contact with the whole school, his popularity being displayed in his many activities from captain of the football team to leader of the Traffic squad. If there were a class salute, to him would it be directed.

EVELYN GIBBS HAWES

"EVA"

Ah, what a joy it is to see Evelyn Hawes, on an otherwise calm day, driving. Her posture is rigid, and her attention is centered on the road. But really, this isn't the Evelyn most of us know. She has sparkling eyes and blonde hair, and on special occasions wears a beautiful corsage which everyone envies. It is rumored that the favorite occasion for it is a wedding, the more the merrier!

Born in Oakville, Ontario, Canada, Oct. 16, 1920.

Hobbies: Driving, Stamp Collecting.

Scholastic Intentions: Katharine Gibbs Secretarial School.

Ambition: To be a private secretary.

FRANCES-JANE HAYDEN

"JAMEN" "FRANNIE"

"Jamen," the girl who can talk such delightful nonsense. "Frannie" always has an air of having the situation well in hand; at the same time she is likely to break out suddenly with a completely crazy trick, just for the heck of it. Dependable, yet changeable as the weather; absolutely unimpressed with her own good points, among which are her smooth black hair, creamy complexion, and honest grey eyes - - - : that's "Frannie," making friends wherever she goes.

BARBARA DESMOND HICKEY

"B" "BICKEY"

"Bickey" has been kept on the run with various positions of importance since she entered high school. She has a way of getting things done without the slightest bit of fuss, being not only dependable and efficient, but also ready to do anything for anybody. A charming and easy conversationalist, a knockout on a dance floor, hockey field or in a sailboat, "B" should have a successful future. Some people think it's the dimples that are the making of that smile, but others know that she's just advertising Colgate's.

"Barby" is an ambitious young woman who, it seems, is trying to master not only the English Dictionary but also the greatest philosophers of all time. She is a second Rubinoff, and has a special interest in a certain Cambridge College (?) Despite these facts she is a swell girl, and the best of fun, especially at a party.

MARJORIE HOLBROOK

"MARGIE"

Whenever you want something really original you can look to "Margie" Holbrook. This little dark-eyed lass will go far with her vivacious, peppy ideas. She has an air of deviltry and fun which attracts people to her, yet she is most loyal to her friends, a catty word ne'er passed her lips. We all wish you the best of luck, "Butch" (isn't that what he calls you?).

Activities: A. A.

Hobbies: Knitting, Collecting menus.

Scholastic Intentions: Art School.

DONALD ALAN HOWARD

"DON" "STUPE"

Don is a mechanical fanatic. Steam turbines and Pascal's principle are of more interest to him than Jean Harlow, Mae West, or Ginger Rogers. Although he is the heaviest man on the football team, he finds plenty to do keeping the suits in order. Just what Coach will do without him is yet to be discovered.

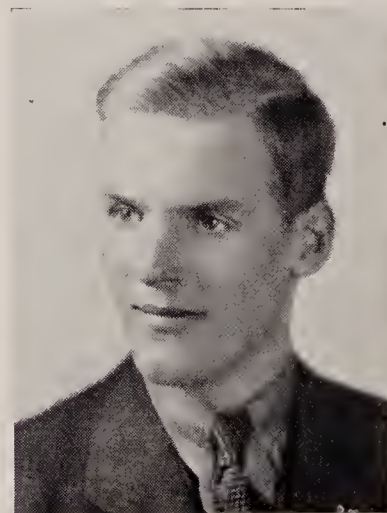

Born August 26, 1919.

Activities: Traffic; Mgr. Football; Vaudeville; Gift Committee.

Hobbies: Skiing, Hiking.

Scholastic Intentions: M. I. T.

Ambition: Schussing Tuckerman's Ravine.

ROBERT E. HUSHEN

"BOB"

Meet the class' best "bull" slinger! His ability to talk incessantly about any given subject, preferably about something of which he knows nothing, is well known (ask Bart). He takes time out occasionally for crooning, but generally finds himself yodeling to Robert Hushen alone. A fanatic on sports, baseball in particular, Bob plays nearly as well as he talks.

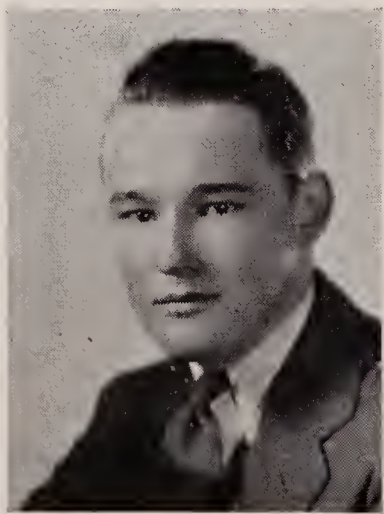

Born in Salem, Mass.

Activities: Baseball, Dramatic Society, Traffic.

Hobbies: Sports, Debating.

Scholastic Intentions: Coast Guard Academy.

Ambition: To be a millionaire.

ANNA ELIZABETH JENNINGS

"Betty" Jennings—they say that nice things come in small packages, but that doesn't hold true with our "Betty." Five feet, six inches, she is full of fun, pep, vim, and vigor. Dancing is right down her alley and it is not a back alley either, from some of that fancy stepping we've seen her do in the vaudeville shows. "Betty" is one who believes in "Art for art's sake", and if she keeps on she'll reach the top.

Born in Buffalo, N. Y., October 16, 1918.

ROBERT JOHNSON

"COACH"

From his earliest infancy, "Bob" proved himself to be no problem for the vocational guidance specialists. Even then, though it was only the kiddie car championship, he held the Malden racing title. Now he races in new Buicks up to New Hampshire, only to race back again, when he has finished skiing. A laugh is guaranteed for anyone who wants one, if he merely talks to Bob. His success is assured. Go to it, Bob!

Born in Malden, Mass., July 15, 1918.

Activities: Skiing, Golf, Ping Pong.

Hobbies: Hunting, Fishing.

Scholastic Intentions: Norwich University.

Ambition: Business Man.

BETSY JANE JONES

"SHORTY"

We were the gainers and New Rochelle the losers, when Betsy blew into our midst last year. Her easy friendliness made her fit in so well that now we can't imagine our class without her. She can't sit still, when there's a good band playing, and she doesn't have to, for there's always somebody to swing it with her. She wields a potent hockey stick, and likes to swim and skate. Good luck, Betsy; we know you can get whatever you go after.

Born in Syracuse, New York, October 10, 1918.

Activities: Hockey '35, '36; Basketball '35; Vaudeville Show; Jr.-Sr. Class Play Com. '35, '36; Girls' Sports Editor of Year Book.

JOSEPH PATRICK JOYCE

FRANCIS HOWARD KEENAN

"CHUB"

"Chubby" is the owner of that decrepit Essex, which holds down part of Winthrop Street from 8:00 to 2:15 every school day. He has a passion for old cars, and the back yard of his residence is literally filled with remnants of "Lizzies" and model T's of the bygone days. Despite this fanaticism, "Chubby" is held in A-1 rating by friends and classmates.

Born in Cambridge, Mass., July 8, 1919.

Hobbies: Sports, Working on cars.

Scholastic Intentions: Undecided:

Ambition: To drive in a midget auto race.

THOMAS JOSEPH KENTON

"Tom's" favorite season is spring, when the baseball season comes around. His regular position is pitcher, but he can play in the garden also, as you who saw the Stoneham game will affirm. ARTHUR ROBERT KILLAM

"ZEEK"

What sane person can conjure up a picture of a well equipped laboratory without Robert there with his test tubes, microscope, and a half-dissected cat. Besides being one of the ablest scientists, he shows symptoms of being a financier, in that he seems to have quite a knack for filling the coffers of the Science Club. Robert's tenaciousness and will-power will undoubtedly continue to overcome all obstacles he may encounter and earn for him a worthy and well-deserved position in the field of medicine.

Activities: Chorus; Science Club.

Hobbies: Music.

Scholastic Intentions: Tufts College, Medical School.

Ambition: Surgery.

MARTHA KIMBALL

"MARMIE"

Lovable, laughable "Marmie!" She is the one senior who can never be really serious, and just can't help brightening up all the sports, plays and classes. Bar Harbor has that certain something which takes the glamorous feeling from Winchester—can it be only Aunt Hannies' Shop? We can be safe in predicting that "Marmie," as a nurse, will be the only medical remedy needed for any patient.

RAGNAR ALEXANDER KVICKSTROM

"WINK" "SWEN"

"Wink" is the tall, blonde, handsome senior, who rules the roost in Room 13 during home-room period. He also seems to rule the roost in a certain Mt. Pleasant St. home. LEONA LEO

"LEE"

Girls, if you need any lessons in the art of mastering men, ask Leona how she does it. Besides sketching, Leona likes cheering up all the good-looking boys in town, to say nothing of a certain Junior. She can no more help liking the boys than she can help being an artist. It just comes natural. Her aim is the top, in which department?

RUTH WARNER LEROY

"RUTHIE"

"Ruthie" is one with a "zippy" personality which keeps any group stirred up by its humor. The number of extra activities which she assumes in addition to her usual heavy schedule is amazing. However, everything is perfectly done, and she accepts more. Such positions as Editor-in-Chief of the Highlights and D. A. R. representative, illustrate her ability and popularity. A fine example of the all-around girl.

MAXIME FARRAGU LEROYER

"MAX" "FRENCHY"

Are you looking for anyone to do a difficult job? Well, you can't go wrong by choosing "Max" who's undoubtedly one of our most dependable classmates. Swing high, swing low, on the rafters down at Duxbury, but, fortunately, he's a gymnast. Asked why he goes to such and such a person's house his retort is, "Oh, there's nothing else to do."

GERTRUDE ANN McNALLY

"GERT"

"Gert," gentle reader, is a cut-up. She is full of pep and energy, and enjoys herself wherever she is. It is her policy to have fun while she can, and she shares her good humor with every one she meets. Hobbies: Swimming and Diving.

Scholastic Intentions: Lowell Commercial College.

GEORGE CHARLES MANNING, JR.

"CHINA" "SHADOW"

This member of the senior class seems to have been around. Not satisfied to limit his foreign countries to one, (he was born in China), he is always on the move. RALPH MELVILLE MANNING

Ralph is rather quiet and reserved, but when you get to know him he loosens up and lets out a carload of pep and fun that he has been hiding somewhere. If there is any problem to be solved, you can bet your bottom dollar that Ralph will come out with the answer. You might not think so, but when he gets going, he can spin a yarn almost as well as he can a rope, and that's certainly saying a lot.

Activities: Track; Cross Country; Science Club; Chorus; Vaudeville.

Hobbies: Photography.

Scholastic Intentions: Renesselaer or Tufts.

VIRGINIA ARNOLD MARTENS

"GINNIE"

The kind of person upon whom you can depend. For all her easy-going nature and apparent quietness, she has a trace of dimples and a mighty mischievous wink. RICHARD HUNTINGTON MARSTERS

"DICK" "BUTCH"

"Dick" is one of the "Bruins'" most loyal fans, being present every Tuesday night of the season. He has no season ticket, however, for they don't issue them for the second balcony. MARY ALICE MASON

"MEA"

Nothing gets past Mea from a hockey ball at the goalie's cage to a boat in a Duxbury race. Maybe you haven't heard, but she is a slave driver when it comes to minuets and modern dances. JAMES JOHN MORAN, JR.

"SWEETHEART"

"Jimmie" has been a quiet but not inconspicuous member of our class. He has starred in football, and we understand that he is one of Tom Maynard's proteges on the track team. "Jimmie" is quite a good student, at least he is conscientious, yet he seems to enjoy 7th periods, especially in Room 23.

RALPH JAMES MURPHY

"MURPH"

Something about Mr. Murphy seems definitely Irish. Whether it is his scintillating wit or merely his name is hard to ascertain. The Irish comes to fore in the wit department, and it is a real pleasure to hear him razz E. Davis and his famed grandmother. Murphy is a baseball player of no mean ability.

LEO THOMAS SCHINDLER

"RED" "TOM"

"Red" may be seen most any afternoon trundling his bicycle over the streets of the town, after 2:11 P. M. He is also quite adept at the costly art of bowling, but not quite adept enough yet to take on another "Red." Though to be a banker is "Red's" highest aspiration, we prophesize a high position in Hart Schaffner and Marx for him, for "mighty oaks from little acorns grow."

Born in South Boston, Mass., April 18, 1918.

Activities: Intramural Basketball; Thrift Association.

Hobbies: Swimming, bowling, bicycling.

Scholastic Intentions: Night School.

Ambition: To be a banker and own a bank of my own.

RICHARD SEXTON

"DICK"

When the Norn Mother received an order for Sexton, R. M., she was determined to make this batch a good one. First she took two brimming cupfuls of good nature and mixed them well with brains. She added a dash of Robert Taylor personality, and poured the mixture into a pan well buttered with wit. On a hot oven it was soon done to a smooth tan. And behold—today, the ideal senior.

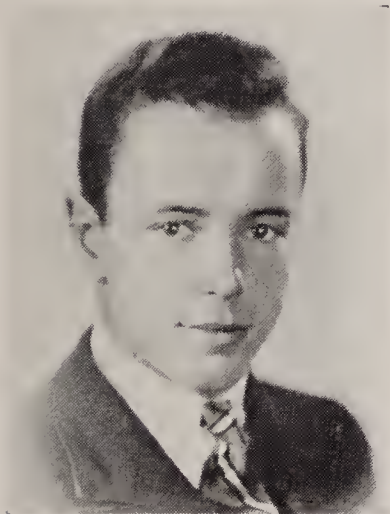

Born in Nashua, N. H., December 21, 1919.

JEREMIAH SHINNICK

"RONNIE"

"Jerry" is the member of our class whose twinkling, round face, and perpetual Harvard haircut have made his name a synonym of joviality in W. H. S. We don't like to call him a flirt, but we suspect that he is more able in that line than in others dealing with high school.

NORMAN MILES THORNTON

"PAPPY"

What a strange thing coincidence is! We have "Pappy" Thornton as the father of the senior class. We poorly informed ones are dying to know why "Normie" wouldn't sing the "Volga Boatman" at the Vaudeville show. All kidding aside—Normie is hard working and conscientious.

EDWARD VINCENT MANZIE

"Eddie" is another one of those persons who seem to persist or rather whom Miss Parker insists spend the 7th period in Room 23. Tall, curly haired, with a roguish smile, "Eddie" has made himself liked in High School, with the girls counted too. We predict for "Eddie" the title of National Billiards Champion if he doesn't miscue.

The Log of The Good Ship "Winchester 1937"

FIRST CRUISE

Temperature: Cold and falling.

Barometer: New all-time low. The upper classes let us know how low from time to time.

Wind: Very little. A few light breezes from the feminine quarter, but most of us are too scared to breathe.

Captain John Downs in his own right and by the popular acclaim of the assembled crew got out his double barreled sextant and took careful departure on the old, familiar landmarks. We were bound over unknown seas, but it was "never look over the stern, mates." Patrick Gardner, First Mate, broke out the "holystones" (cleaning bricks) and the slushing gear and all hands "turned to" to put the "Winchester 1937" shipshape. Dorothy Bruno kept the score, and Norman Thornton counted the pieces of eight.

And was it rough! But we soon grew accustomed to that, and even learned to go up hand over hand on the ropes. The Skipper won renown in the Fleet Dramatic Club—that takes some doing for a new hand. (Do you remember the "Three Live Ghosts?"). Able Seamen Lucius Smith, John Lobingier, and Elbridge Davis carved pencils out of the spritsail yard and used them to good advantage on the new school paper, "The Highlights."

Joe Cimina turned out to be a football player of great promise, while Ward Albro, Fred Croto, Robert Lynch, John Downs, and Ralph Manning donned panties and ran from yard to yard. So did George Manning and Richard Marsters. Whatta track squad!

In the spring William Smith and Robert Hushen showed enough to make the baseball squad. The girls played tennis all over the main deck, with Dorothy Bruno, Mary Alice Mason, Dorothy Fitts, and Martha Kimball the best of the crew.

'Twas a stormy passage at times, especially along about the end of January when we had to take in sail at our first encounter with that terror of the seas—mid-year exams. But with many a fair wind and blue water under the forefoot it was a good voyage, and we made landfall with only a few sailors lost over the side. And then, what ho for a three months' shore leave!

SECOND CRUISE

Temperature: Warmer.

Barometer: Rising perceptibly.

Wind: Remarkably increased velocity (you know the old saying: 'You can always tell a Sophomore—but you can't tell him much!')

Navigator William Smith "took his bearing" and plotted the course for the next nine months. At a signal from First Mate Barbara Hickey we jumped to man the "halyards" with a "heave ho, m'hearties, it's off for another sail." In no time at all we regained our sea legs ("le pied marin," you French students) and were running before the wind at a great rate. The other officers on the bridge were George Manning, Scribe; and Kenneth Gurney, Paymaster.

Agility was needed to dodge the flying sticks and balls as Barbara Hickey and Virginia and Dorothy Bruno led the hockey squad up and down the deck, around the hatchways and between the masts. 'Twas good practice, though, for the ship's team led by "Dotty" won the Fleet championship. Meanwhile, Joe Cimina "came through" for those who had been betting on him by sinking all rivals and winning the position of Varsity halfback on the Football team.

Back aft on the ship, Rhoda Elliott, George Manning, and Ward Albro, members of the Executive Board of the Science Club, set up their battery of microscopes and began work on the momentous question of why the sea is wet. Skipper Smith himself found time to count the pennies collected by the Red Cross.

Several times a week wrestling matches were held: The Theorem of Pythagoras versus any of us who dared to tackle him. Or perhaps we were entertained by a group of daring tars who, inspired by that father of all "swing" songs, "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," performed amazing tricks high up in the rigging. Alas, theirs was an unappreciative audience. When asked whether they did not consider the show better than a circus, the girls always replied, "No, No, A Thousand Times, No!"

With the appearance of spring came that of baseball, in which Daniel ("Slicker") Coss (our best all-around athlete), "Brother" Donaghey, and "Wee Willie" McDonald distinguished themselves. Not to be outdone, the girls started a team of their own on which Julia Luongo and Barbara Hickey starred. Dorothy Bruno won the honor of playing on the Fleet tennis team, while Ken Gurney and Fred Croto continued the grand effort round and round the track.

Once, around the first of April, the ship ran into a dead calm, during which that inevitable disease, spring fever, spread like wildfire through the crew. A breeze came up, however, which brought about quick recovery. We made port with all sails set and banners flying. "Leave ahoy!"

THIRD CRUISE

Temperature: Warm.

Barometer: Still rising.

Wind: Strong.

With a "Ho, heave, ho" and an "all together, me hearties" we broke the old anchor out of the mud, and squared away for another cruise. The good old ship seemed in splendid trim, and a brisk wind sent her along handsomely.

Before the land was barely out of sight we could tell by the hum of the rigging that we were in for a blow, and we were right. An English hurricane blew all the boatropes out of the sails, and nearly carried away the main mast, but we hung on by our poetry notebooks—too scared to let go—and rode out the gale. Storms of French and Spanish origin, like the popular music, went "round and round," and occasionally we ran into stenography squalls; but all hands turned out to help bail and we put the ship back on an even keel again.

Martha Kimball rose from the position of First Mate to that of Skipper when Lucius Smith, the first skipper, left to join another ship. "Mea" Mason was Ship's Writer, and Max Le Royer the Supply Officer.

Three of the four positions at the head of the Red Cross were filled by members of our class: John Downs, William Smith, and Frances-Jane Hayden. We also had much to do with running "The Highlights," with Ruth Le Roy, the News Editor, assisted by Dot Fitts; John Lobingier and William Fitzgerald, Sports Editors; Barbara Ekern, Exchange Editor; and John Downs, Business Manager. But the one to whom the prize for varied activity must go is Barbara Hickey who was President of the Dramatic Society, Secretary of the A. A., a basketball player, and also such a fine hockey player that she was elected to be the next year's captain.

"Slicker" Coss and James Harris were our two most important contributions to the football team, the former kicking most of the points after touchdowns. He also served as captain of the basketball team. Fred Croto, a cross-country star, raised the number of junior captains to two. The title of highest jumper was easily won by John Downs. Ken Gurney and Ward Albro frequently went aloft to display their gymnastic abilities.

We were not a crew to believe in the "all work and no play" theory; we managed to cram as much fun as possible into each week. Weekends were spent playing that greatest of all friendship-breakers, the fascinating "Monopoly." We became thoroughly acquainted with the ins and out of real estate, as well as with the fine art of rent and tax evasion. Insull and Capone had nothing on us!

Our two dramatic groups were also busy. Dot Bruno, James Nardin, Dick Sexton, and George Manning had parts in the Junior-Senior class play, "The Boomerang." Later in the winter the Dramatic Society's presentation of "The Rear Car" (with Joan Pullman, Helen Pentz, John Downs, Dick Sexton, and Ward Albro, the stars, all juniors) sent us to our bunks, shivering with fright. Will we ever forget the sound of that voice from nowhere laughing in demonical glee as the lights went out, one by one, or the sight of Detective John Downs wound around the legs of the table searching for a clue?

We also contributed our full quota of performers to the annual Vaudeville Show.

At last we again made our harbor safely, after a stormy but not unpleasant voyage "down the Trades."

FOURTH CRUISE

Temperature: Balmy.

Barometer? (The darn thing broke).

Wind: High, reaching gale velocity in some quarters!

The good old "Winchester 1937" weighed anchor on this, the last lap of its voyage, with all signs pointing toward the best cruise yet. Captain Norman Thornton spun the wheel with a firm hand, while Lieutenant Lucius Smith stood by to relieve him at any time. Dorothy Fitts recorded all noteworthy events. But perhaps the hardest worked officer of all was David Emmons, who wore out several pairs of shoes pacing the quarterdeck, trying to think of a way to get us sailors to pay our dues so he could "make ends meet."

All hands were exceedingly active this cruise. Even those who joined us for the first time, or who transferred from private yachts soon "fell into the swim," as the saying goes. Before long we showed our heels to the other ships.

True, there were a few weeks when we were all running rather wild, due to a certain song which had recently become popular; but after it had been decided by common consent that the next person who said "Knock, knock" to us would have to walk the plank, the craze soon died out. We became sane, sound sailors again, furnishing little trouble for Commander Harris' police force.

The last mentioned officer also performed nobly as President of the Athletic Association, with Barbara Hickey as his able right hand woman. The latter received the Wheeler Cup at the Fall Sports Banquet, at the same time that John Downs was awarded the Mansfield Cup.

A trio of our boys deserve special credit, for they won letters on both football and basketball teams: "Brother" Donaghey, "Slicker" Coss, and "Libby" Gaudioso. Other football stars were Captain "Jim" Harris, Kenneth Leghorn, Joseph Phelan, James Moran and Richard McNeilly.

The girls were not far behind. Two of them, Martha Kimball and Marjorie Stevenson, were on the varsity team for both hockey and basketball. Some other outstanding hockey players were Barbara Hickey, Dorothy Fitts, and Betsy Jones. Ruth Le Roy and Lydia Rogers helped to "man the fighting top" for the basketball team.

Our tennis champs this year were Dorothy Bruno, Dick Sexton, and Raymond Bancroft. Bill Smith, Robert Donaghey, and Ralph Murphy held up the honor of their ship in the baseball games and boarded the enemy valiantly.

Norman Thornton and David Emmons were President and Treasurer respectively of the Fleet's largest organization, the Dramatic Society. Frances-Jane Hayden, and Helen Pentz, also officers of the club, took part in the Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang," along with four other seniors. Five of the eight roles in "Mamma's Affair," the Junior-Senior class play, were taken by the following members of our crew: Dick Sexton, Martha Kimball, James Nardin, Dorothy Bruno, and Margaret Heath.

John Downs and Frances-Jane Hayden, as President and Secretary of the Thrift Association did their best to make Scotchmen out of us. Then the latter of the two turned about and joined with President Dick Sexton in making us part with our carefully hoarded pennies for the Red Cross. Inconsistent, we call it.

Needless to say, our Prom, with Frances-Jane Hayden the chairman of the hard-working committee, was the biggest and best of all time—past or future.

As we were nearing the lighthouse on D. A. R. point, all hands were piped aft for an important announcement. The keepers of the tower had just this year acquired a powerful searchlight which they were training on each ship and its crew as they passed, their purpose being to focus attention on those qualities in our sailor-ettes which often receive but little recognition: leadership, patriotism, dependability and loyalty. The girls were lined up, and the spotlight went slowly down the row. Then, with the aid of the senior officers of the fleet, who had come aboard for this occasion, we chose Ruth Le Roy as most nearly possessing those admirable qualities. She attended the state D. A. R. Convention, meeting there representatives from many other fleets.

"The Highlights" got off to a rather late start, due to a complete change in the organization; but it was worth waiting for, for when it appeared it was half again as large as that of the previous year. With Editor Ruth Le Roy at the helm, and three of the four pages under senior direction, "The Highlights" came through with flying colors.

The Science Club, that organization of the "super colossal mentalities" of the fleet, was headed by George Manning. Ward Albrow wrote the minutes of the meetings, and Robert Killam kept after everyone for dues, (which even the master minds sometimes forget to pay.)

This year saw the appearance of two new clubs. The first of these, the French Club, with la belle, charmante Mlle. Mackdon as its pilot, was pronounced highly successful by all, and will probably become a permanent institution. Marjorie Rush served as President, and Max LeRoy guarded the money boxes.

Under the leadership of Kenneth Leghorn and Barbara Ekern the Boys' and Girls' Ski Clubs came into being, with many enthusiastic members carrying their skis and poles to and from school each week for the preliminary exercises. Alas, theirs was a disappointing season, for 1937 will always be remembered as the "winterless" year—no snow and very little ice. Whatta gyp!

It is remarkable that not once during the four years' voyage was there a threat of mutiny in the crew. There's an old saying that a man who is well-fed will never be discontented, and this must hold true in our case. Certainly no part of "Winchester 1937" holds a spot nearer to our hearts, than the galley and mess-hall.

And now that June is here we must leave the good, old ship snug at the dock, a "sailor's haven" for the future years, getting older as time goes on, but always good for a jolly cruise of reunion with stores of fine memories in her holds and with her timbers creaking with stories of the grand first cruises.

MARJORIE RUSH.

Class Prophecy

ON June 8, 1957, at the invitation of Norman (Pappy) Thornton, popular president of the Winchester College Club, the class of 1937 gathered for their reunion at the palatial home of Mrs. Robert E. Hushen (Muriel Blomquist), widow of the late "beer baron", Robert E. Hushen. As you know Hushen Manor was built on the site of the Ginn Estate which burned in the Great Conflagration of '41 when Winchester, Medford, and Arlington were destroyed, and is of Georgian Style designed by Margaret Heath. All admired the excellent taste "Muri" Hushen had shown in decorating the home, but she graciously gave all credit to the well-known interior decorator, Virginia Martens.

After a short interval, dinner was announced. Leo Schindler, the Hushen family banker, with Mrs. Hushen on his arm, led the way to the state dining room and took his place at the head of the table. On the hostess's right was seated Halford Ambler, advertising manager for the brewery, and on her left, Robert Walsh, commercial artist and Mr. Ambler's partner. There were several empty seats—but most of them soon filled,—Mr. Wallace Blanchard, tin can "king", with his wife, the former Joan Pullman; James Murphy, eminent financier, and the Brookline society matron, the former Barbara Hickey, arriving just in time for the fish which were caught by Bud Armstrong and Jerry Shinnick.

After a delicious dinner by Dr. Donahue, Dietician, the guests adjourned for a promenade through the grounds to the stable to visit their old friend, Edmund Olson, who because of an epidemic of colic among the horses had been unable to get away for dinner. Dr. Downs, veterinarian from Maine, on prescription of Frances Snyder, chemist, gave the horses a dose of C12 H22 O11, cane sugar to you, curing them so that Iggy Olson might return to the house with the guests. Too much hey, hey, gave Marmee Kimball and Dick Sexton hay-fever. Drs. Raymond Bancroft, Ward Albro, A. R. Killam, and Helen P. Towner sent them home in a car driven speedily by "Chub" Keenan, auto racer, and attended by Nurses Julia Luongo and Jeanne Moran.

Then, as the guests were getting rheumatic with the coming of the evening dew, they made their way back to the house where they discovered "Mea" Mason stretched out on a divan, lamenting the fact that its cushions were not Armstrong Wood Strong-Wood Mattresses.

Mrs. Hushen led the way to the game room to work off the meal. Nine men,—Tom Kenton, Wink Kvickstrom, Ducky Rallo, Bud Stygles, Fitzzy Fitzgerald, Ralphie Murphy, Robert Orpin, Peck Capone, and Fred Bates played three innings of baseball against nine women,—Pam Mitchell, Emily Thorne, Stevie Stevenson, Eva Hawes, Mary Capone, Betty Glendon, Honeydew Provost, Weezie Paine, and Mardi Rush. Pam Mitchell, her first time at bat, and in her usual manner, knocked out a home run. In the third inning with Marjorie Rush, Emily Thorne, and Betty Glendon on bases, Florence Pynne, pinch hitter for Weezie Paine, drove in the runners with a home run. Needless to say, the women with these winning ways, won by a score of 5 to 0. Following this, there was an exhibition of billiards by Slicker Coss and Battler Elliott, the latter winning.

The music of the McNeilly-Gleason orchestra at this point lured the guests into the ballroom for an hour's entertainment. Lucius Smith, master of ceremonies, first presented a fashion show. Soft lights, sweet music, and seven sophisticated women,—Christine Craven, Frances-Jane Hayden, Katherine Blanchard

Lydia Rogers, Margaret Pattee, Marjorie Holbrook, Dorothy Fitts,—modeling Frances Donahue's latest creations. Following this, the master of ceremonies introduced the night club entertainer,—Dorothy Buckley, and her all-girl orchestra,—Barbara Hill, Betty Ann Budd, Doris Perry, Theresa Gillotte, Betty Carlson, Rhoda Elliott, Leona Leo,—who accompanied Ida Cucolo in a solo tap dance. Next there was a skit by two foreigners. They must have been foreigners, for no one could understand a word they said, because Dot Bruno, one of them, talked too rapidly, and Jim Nardin, the other, too slowly. Then Barbara Moulton, with Ray Brown at the piano, gave a dramatic rendition of that old favorite, School Days and the sentimental ballad, Organ Grinder's Swing.

Betty Jennings then presented her skillfully directed "After Office Hours Ballet," which comprised twelve tapping Tillie the Toilers,—Aline Bursley, Gert McNally, Obie O'Brien, Edie Collins, Anna Peterson, Rushie Rushworth, Nickie Errico, Kitty Galello, Helen Hannon, Dutchie Goodnow, Libby O'Neil, Patty Colucci, and twelve men, ten business men and two lawyers, Fred Cameron, "Park Street" Emmons, Bucky Harris, Red Harkins, Bud Drewson, Sully Sullivan, Dick Marsters, Arnie Whittaker, Bob Blackler, Coach Johnson, Sweetheart Moran, and Bill Smith.

One of the highlights of the evening was a television broadcast arranged by Supervisors Rose and Josephine Motollo, who demonstrated the new television equipment of the Magic Voice Telephone and Telegraph Company, which Mrs. Hushen had just had installed. In this demonstration, the guests contacted a small group of fellow alumni, who were assembled at Dublin, Ireland,—Dike O'Neil, Fish Sheehan, Shorty Jones, Margie Abbe, Goo Giuliani, and Al Perkins, all ardent social workers in the British Isles. Unfortunately the connections were broken when the Aberjona Clipper, piloted by Brother Donaghey, Carl Erickson, and Skip Joyce, dropped the daily supply of eggs.

Immediately after this interruption, a telegraph messenger, Allan Bellew, arrived with messages from our trailer-traveling tourists,—Ernest Ferullo, Ruth LeRoy, Phyllis Allgrove, Charlotte Gile, and Joe Phelan, who were at various national parks. Continuing the program, Lucius Smith introduced the torch singer, Winona Boardley, who brought down the house. Then the four Barx Brothers, Peirce, LeRoy, Howard, and the silent partner, Leghorn, provided comic relief. After this Betsy Higgins and the staff of her Haven For Homeless Children, Nancy Robinson, art director; Bill McDonald, English teacher; Mary Eleanor Speers, arithmetic; Barbara Ekern, penmanship; John Nowell, history; and George Manning, general science; closed the program with a rousing cheer for the generous Mrs. Hushen.

Just then the telephone rang. The Motollos made a dash for it and Rose brought back the following message from our mountaineer friends: WASHINGTON WINDY STOP SKIING SLICK STOP SORRY WE MISSED REUNION STOP SIGNED BENNY TODESCA RALPH MANNING GINNIE FOREMAN CARLIE THOMPSON VINCENT MANZIE BUNNY POWERS.

The program having come to an end, the guests followed Mrs. Hushen to the dining room where they hastily filled up on pink lemonade and animal crackers. During this bit of refreshment, Tom Underwood rushed in with the amazing and exciting news that being unable to sell Roosevelt to Winchester, he had just sold Winchester to Roosevelt. And the price—$22.73.

Pappy Thornton, with great dignity, adjourned the class of '37 until the year 2000. The cars rolled away—Hushen Manor was empty—and so to bed.

The Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1937

ON this, the auspicious occasion of our graduation from our beloved W. H. S., we, the members of the class of 1937, being in a generous frame of mind, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

Our individual contributions:

I, Jim Harris, leave the enjoyable task of piloting the football team and the traffic squad to that worthy Junior, "Pete" Sibley.

Much as it grieves us, we, Bud Armstrong and Dick McNeilly, leave the Dickson twins to Clem Bairstow and Pete Scully with the understanding that it is not permanent.

To any needy Junior, I, Barbara Hickey, will the secret of my success, my ready smile, under the condition that it be used exclusively for the benefit of the teachers.

On receiving my pension, I, Dan Coss, do hereby leave my five-year lease on the school to Harry McGrath. Don't stretch it, Harry.

To my protege, Gale Angas, I, "Chris" Craven, leave my secrets of how to beautify the barren gym for dances.

I, John Downs, leave my perfection in "Crossing the Bar" to any member of the class of '38 who is outstanding in both chorus and track.

To one Gardner Jones, I, Ken Leghorn, leave my originality in dress. For further particulars call Win. 0309.

I, Muriel Blomquist, bequeath my maidenly blush to Beatrice Grimes, feeling that it will become her as it does me. My parting request is that it be used only for the benefit of male teachers.

Hoping that they will reward him as they have me, I, Dick Sexton, bequeath my dancing feet to Tom Worthen, who is a very fitting fellow to follow in my footsteps.

In order that this school may still be a cheerful place after we, the Seniors, are gone, we Don Howard and Dot Fitts, leave our wittiness to Ben Schneider and Shirley Somerby, in whom we find qualifications that will enable them to be almost as comical as we are.

I, Bob Blackler, leave my position behind the eight ball to John Welburn, being assured that it will not be taken advantage of.

I, Betsy Jones, feeling that I have enough for two, leave my flirting to the up-and-coming young Freshmen, Martha Little and Marion Neilly. May it bring them the success I have enjoyed.

I, "Peck" Capone, also feeling that I have enough for two, leave my line-splitting proboscis (nose to you freshmen) to Joseph Espedito Ficociello—"Ficky's" brother.

With many regrets, I, "Red" Donaghey, leave Jean McKenzie to the most athletic junior, whoever he may prove to be.

I, Bill Smith, leave my inferiority complex to Jack Finger. Nuff Sed.

I, "Franny" Hayden, will to Joanne Worthen my charm and personality, which, added to her blonde beauty, should make her the belle of the class of 1939.

I, Bud Drewson, leave my knack of bluffing Spanish to any sucker who thinks it's a snap course.

I, Ray Brown, being sure that I will find a more comfortable one, leave the school smoking room to Billy Meek. Don't get caught unless you really feel the need of a vacation, Billy.

I, Peggy Pattee, leave my secrets of how to make red hair redder to that stately sophomore, Jeanne Howard.

I, Mea Mason, leave my fool, pardon us, school girl complexion to Miriam Nash.

I, Bob Hushen, leave my much-loved gift of gab to Charlie Reeves.

I, Jeanne Moran, leave my ability to find 'em and fool 'em to Connie Bond—not that you really need it, Connie.

We, the members of the Senior class, tearfully leave behind such books as "The Epic of America", "La Tulipe Noire", "Pasos En Espanol", "Adventures in Literature", and many other books with which we have spent many enjoyable (?) hours at the insistence of our faculty.

Presentation of Class Gift

NEARLY one hundred years ago, Horace Mann, possessing great foresight, said: "If ever there was a cause, if ever there can be a cause, worthy to be upheld by all of toil and sacrifice that the human heart can endure, it is the cause of education." In these days of sit-down strikes, Supreme Court issues, foreign war-clouds and general world-wide confusion, there seems to me to be unusual significance in the lines which I have just quoted.

This year our nation is celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of Horace Mann's election to the position of State Director of Education in Massachusetts. In large part because of this man's effort we, to-day, are able to enjoy the privileges of universal education. His ideals permeate the entire philosophy of democratic education as it is practiced in our country.

In recognition of the great services of Horace Mann from which we all have benefited, the graduating class of 1937 has thought it fitting to present a portrait of this great American to the school. This portrait is a copy of the painting by J. Harvey Young, which hangs in the hall of the State Teachers' College, in Salem. It carries out remarkably well the richness and quality of a painting and is the nearest approach to free hand work that can be made over a photographic base.

Our class hopes that this gift will serve as a permanent reminder to high school students of one who has been described as the "Father of the American Public School." I now have the very great pleasure, as president of the graduating class, to present this portrait to the Winchester High School.

NORMAN THORNTON

Acceptance of Class Gift

THE students of the Winchester High School certainly appreciate the custom of the graduating class to present a gift on leaving the school. We, who are in the school now, can not forget the Class of 1937 but their influence should be carried on to later years.

Inasmuch as Horace Mann was an outstanding figure in the development of the Public School System in the United States and since this is the one hundredth anniversary of his election to the position of State Director of Education of the Public Schools of Massachusetts, it is most appropriate for the class of 1937 to present this excellent portrait to the future classes of the high school. They may be well assured that it shall be hung in an important position, to be looked up to by all who enter the school and to be appreciated both for the significance of the man and for the excellent workmanship of the portrait.

As the representative not only of the Junior Class but also of the entire undergraduate body, I wish to thank the class of 1937 for this beautiful gift.

JOHN FINGER

BABY PICTURE NO. I

Believe it or not, we once looked like this. In many of these pictures, one can see resemblances to the present student, with a little use of the imagination.

Don't you think that the little gardener is a cute old lady? The telescope is almost as big as P . . . is. What a beautiful background the wistful maid on the right has! Is the curly-haired miss in the lower left in jail?

Turn to the last page preceding our advertising section and you will find out who is who.

History of the Junior Class

LED by Jack Finger, smiling football guard, and supported by tall John Farley, vice-president, starring jovial Jean Fowler as secretary, and with quiet Judy Hersom as treasurer, the Junior Class started this year by immediately proceeding to "go to town."

Athletics beckoned to many of our members. Peter Sibley became treasurer of the A. A., and along with Gerald Ficociello, was elected co-captain of next year's football first stringers. Libonio Gaudioso successfully captained the basketball team with another of our members, Richard Hakanson becoming captain-elect for next year. The junior girls also had their share of athletic honors. Loretta Gaffney is to be next year's field hockey captain while Betty Kendrick has performed admirably as the secretary of the A. A. Ben Schneider carefully guarded the Red Cross money bags. Bradford Darling and Eleanor Jenkins were vice-president and secretary, respectively, of the newly formed L'Alliance Francaise (French Club to you).

Several of our members with "superior itellects" performed at the science club assembly last fall. Clement Thompson, an amateur radio operator, became vice-president of the Science Club, becoming its president when the president left school.

The annual A. A. Vaudeville Show produced many juniors in varied roles.

Many of our members were upon the staff of the "Highlights," our venerable school paper that was reconditioned this year.

The Black Terror has also seized a few of our tender members (The Black Terror being in the form of College Board Examination Classes with the Exams themselves looming sinisterly upon the horizon).

But the majority of us are carefree and waiting for June, when we shall become the upperclass and take upon ourselves the responsibility which that high and mighty position contains.

GOD SAVE THE JUNIOR CLASS!

HIS EXCELLENCY, JOHN A. FINGER

ELEANOR JENKINS '38

LINCOLN GRINDLE '38

History of the Sophomore Class

The Greeks had a word for it! At least, someone must have thought that ancient language expressive, for we find that our word "Sophomore" is a mixture of the Greek "Sophos", meaning "wise", and "Muros", meaning "foolish", a perfect description of the second-year student. The class of '39 has been an excellent example of the second part of the conglomeration, with occasional and alarming leanings toward wisdom—of a sort. Luckily, the teachers saw to that.

Some of the wiser little Soph boys and girls not only paid a reasonable amount of attention to their studies, but also indulged in a few extra-curricular activities, probably not trusting themselves during idle hours. Such activities must have been devised by a frustrated faculty, confronted with the problem of managing those pupils bridging the gap between Freshman and Junior years.

For those who find that physical exercise is fun as well as beneficial, the school is happy to present sports which range from ping-pong to football. Look over a few of our athletes and their records:

Francis "Muscles" Murray showed admiring fans just how a first-stringer should play football. Chalk up one for the Sophomores.

Doug Graham toys with the pigskin now and then, and also plays basketball in a manner the opposing teams don't like.

Grey Twombly and Eddie Kenney also put on shorts and throw the basketball through the hoop.

The Gym Team's "Muscle Men" act in the Vau-Devil show had Sophomore representation.

But the girls haven't been lax, either. Myrtle Goodhue, who wasn't even on last year's hockey squad, leaped to a first team position.

And Mildred Ghirardini joined the cheer-leaders' outfit to exercise loyal Winchester tonsils on the gridiron.

Quite a goodly number of Sophomore girls have won basketball numerals.
More power to the fair sex!

Let us glance now at the more or less intellectual side of the curriculum.

Among other zealous students, Barbara Hayden carried on the fine work of the Red Cross this year.

Margaret Hall was one of those "no talking—one step at a time" people, to be brief, a lieutenant of the Traffic Squad.

It is unnecessary to mention the large number of prospective Walter Winchells; the school was overrun with snooping Sophomores, sleuthing for the Highlights' columns. But one young gentleman is worthy of notice, he is Charles "Butch" Baeon, our dynamic sports reporter.

But this category had better end right here and now, with the first names to enter my mind; for an accurate presentation of the names of all active Sophomores would involve nearly the entire list of the second-year class. The main purpose has been to show that the Sophs have done some things to make them deserve the title "Half-wise".

But the wisest thing the Sophomores ever did was to elect Donald Gray as President, and Joseph Burton to fill the office of Vice-President. Both were ably assisted by Secretary Margaret McNally and Treasurer Vincent Errico.

It certainly could not be called difficult to find examples of foolishness among these carefree students. Such a characteristic lurks everywhere among them. But one incident stands out in more than one Sophomore's mind. I don't think that lad who translated "Elle lui remercia avec ses larmes" as "She thanked him with her arms" instead of "She thanked him with her tears" will ever forget the sensation he received at the time that his face resembled a tomato in color. Typical, of course, but by no means outstanding is this example.

As a last remark, I wish to present a warning to the teachers who must undertake the problem of our education, and a reminder to that gallant martyr, Mr. Butters, who will be forced, no doubt, to have the same students once more, in our Junior year. But cheer up, all of you; we will be one year older by that time, and may have learned a few things in the interim to calm us down. It may seem rather impossible that such an unruly bunch could ever calm down, but the thrill of becoming high and mighty upper-classmen may prove a steadying influence; and in an effort to prove worthy examples to more young pups who take the positions we vacate, we may concentrate fairly well on our studies. Let's hope that is not too optimistic.

MILDRED GHIRARDINI, '39

History of the Freshman Class

On the maiden cruise of the S. S. Wadleigh we found Mr. Samuel Graves as skipper.

The class officers were:

President	David Schneider
Vice President	Louise Barr
Secretary	Shirley Wood
Treasurer	Peter Collins

On that memorable day, September 11, 1936, two hundred bewildered freshmen entered a school which had not been put to use for several years. Such well-known phrases as "we who are about to die salute you" permeated the atmosphere. The boys were soon to learn that the heating equipment was rather primitive, the teachers, rather fussy about the temperature. Result: much valiant effort was expended in keeping the heating plant's idiosyncrasies in check.

The freshmen "played" a large part in the school orchestra. Out of thirty-two members of this group, nine were freshmen, and if an upper-classman can be expected to know sufficient mathematics, these figures ought to speak for themselves. There were six fiddlers, one trumpeter, one clarinetist, and one pianist.

Tony DeTeso and Peter Galuffo were the proud freshmen with football letters.

The freshmen contributed generously to all the Red Cross projects. Though Room One was ten or twelve laps in the lead, all did their bit. Foods, playing cards, pencil stubs, and stationery poured in from generous hands.

The freshmen also did their stuff in the Vaudeville show. When Richard Dana defied the law of gravity in his neck-risking stunts, there was many a gasp of awe and admiration from the voluble audience. "Kiki" Sullivan danced gracefully, adding much to the pleasure of the audience. Howard Chase contributed the scintillating melodies of his trumpet, much to everyone's enjoyment.

The freshmen were not left out in the Highlights, either. They had a whole page to themselves with Jean Drake as editor. Miss Bailey and Miss Shea were the faculty supervisors.

The interesting assembly which the freshmen put on was judged a success.

Thanks to Skipper Graves, the freshmen were kept in touch with the political pulse. His Thursday political discussions, for the benefit of the ancient history classes, will long be remembered by the class of '40.

We have had a good voyage and wish all future classes good sailing on the S. S. Wadleigh.

Introducing Our Athletics

Athletic Association

The A. A. started off the year 1936-1937 with the first meeting of the officers on September 17, when the personnel of the executive board was completed with the appointment of Dorothy Fitts and Lucius Smith as chairmen of the social and publicity committees respectively.

The main activity of the fall season was the fall sports dance held the day of the Lexington game and preceded by a red hot rally, led by Lucius Smith. Ken Leghorn produced a startlingly unusual rally before the Woburn game. The season was closed successfully with an award assembly, and the banquet, at which the Wheeler and Mansfield Cups were awarded to Barbara Hickey and John Downs.

The Springfield gym team visited us again this year, as usual a financial and social success.

The climax of the year was reached when the Vau-devil Show was presented on March 19 with a profit of $225.00.

There were two more award assemblies in the year—one for the winter and one for the spring season.

In the course of the year a constitutional change was made by which a team may vote to have its letter altered.

We are glad to say that at last the new field can be used and will be the scene of next year's football games.

Possibilities of a ski team, a golf team, and a boys' ice hockey team were thoroughly discussed and investigated, resulting in the organization of a ski club; also, the outlook for a hockey team was improved for future years.

The fiscal year was brought to a close with the nomination of a new slate for next year's officers.

This year's officers were:

President	James Harris
Vice-President	Barbara Hickey
Secretary	Betty Kendrick
Treasurer	Peter Sibley

The A. A. wishes to extend its hearty thanks to its faculty advisors, Miss Young and Mr. Mansfield for their untiring efforts in bringing the Athletic Association through another successful year.

FOOTBALL TEAM

Football

THE Winchester High School Football Team for the fourth consecutive year held the championship of the Middlesex League. This year the crown was held jointly with Belmont, both teams winning four of the five scheduled league games. Winchester lost to Maynard while Belmont was crushed by our own Red and Black, 19-0.

Winchester's initial game was played at Arlington, and they did well to hold a much more powerful team to one touchdown, which was scored by an 80-yard run. Arlington 7 - Winchester 0.

Traveling to Marblehead the locals played their outstanding game of the season. Decidedly the underdog, Winchester outplayed the "Headers" throughout the game, and a close decision changed our victory into a tie. Winchester 6 - Marblehead 6.

In the first league game Stoneham was whitewashed 19-0 by a well coordinated team. Stoneham held the edge in the opening period, thereafter the Red and Black dominated the play. Ficociello and Murray shared the scoring honors. Winchester 19 - Stoneham 0.

Our next opponent, Belmont, was badly beaten on their home grounds. Ficociello scored twice, and Captain Harris once. Winchester 19 - Belmont 0.

The next game was at Concord where Winchester always has a hard time to score. Concord's stubborn defence was only broken once by a 53 yard off-tackle run by Ficociello for the only score. Winchester 6 - Concord 0.

Tackling a rugged outfit at Maynard, Winchester got caught in a rut, displaying sloppy ball handling, and were set back for the only league defeat. Maynard 13 - Winchester 6.

A weak Lexington club came to town and the locals, still careless as the week before, managed to eke out a verdict. Galuffo, a freshman, scoring for Winchester. Winchester 6 - Lexington 0.

The following week one of the most aggressive teams in the past few years came to Winchester under the name of Wellesley. Presenting a fast, hard running attack they completely outplayed the Red and Black to win a decisive victory. Winchester 0 - Wellesley 16.

On Thanksgiving Day the annual turkey struggle was played on a field of mud. The Orange and Black capitalized on a last minute break to cop the game. Woburn 6 - Winchester 0.

Throughout the season Winchester played hard and smart football under the able direction of Coach Wendell D. Mansfield. Ed Bartlett managed the second team, which won all but one of its games. This team made a remarkable showing, and they will mostly represent the varsity in 1937.

It may be said that Donald Howard did his duty, and more, as manager.

At the A. A. Banquet after the season, Gerry Ficociello and Peter Sibley were elected Co-Captains for the next fall. The lettermen of the 1936 season were:

- | | | |
|------------------------|----------------------|---------------------|
| 1. James Harris, Capt. | 6. Joseph Phelan | 11. James Moran |
| 2. Donald Howard, Mgr. | 7. Paul Capone | 12. John Finger |

FIELD HOCKEY SQUAD

Field Hockey

THE 1936 Hockey Squad had a very successful season. Both the first and second teams under the capable leadership of Miss Young, displayed excellent team-work, stick-work, and, above all, sportsmanship. After extensive practice, and eager for battle, they challenged other high schools.

The outstanding work of the first team players, captained by Barbara Hickey, led them to many victories. While each girl on the forward line made her share of goals, Dorothy Fitts was the high scorer. "Dot" made one-half of all the goals scored throughout the season.

The predominating characteristics of the girls were their determination and fighting spirit. The vivacious athletes themselves decided that whenever they lost a game they would punish themselves by wearing black stockings to school the following day. Consequently, one day in the fall we saw eleven pairs of black stockings running about the school. Thus, you see, this team only lost one out of the nine games played and this was to Melrose.

Girls getting first team letters were:

"Peggy" Shinnick, lw	"Marmee" Kimball, rw	"B" Hickey, (Capt.), rh
"Dot" Fitts, li	"Judy" Hersom lh	Myrtle Goodhue, lfb
Betsy Jones, c	Shirley Smith, ch	Jean McKenzie, rfb
Loretta Gaffney, ri	Nancy Robinson, ch	"Mea" Mason, g

Athletic and capable Loretta Gaffney was elected captain for the next year. We wish her and the rest of the team the best of luck.

A group of enthusiastic girls composed the hard-working second team. Its captain, Frances Glidden, as a capable center, scored the greatest number of goals. Even though their victories weren't as numerous as those of the first team, they made an excellent showing, losing only three out of the nine games played.

"Franny" Glidden, Capt., c	Jean Clement, rfb	Betty Dickson, ri
"B" Moulton, rw	Peggy Shaunnessey, lhb	Ruth Olmstead, g
Ruth Ann Merrow, chb	Esther Colucci lw	Marion Ambrose, rhb
Nancy Wolfe, lfb	Marjorie Manzie, li

Manager, Emily Thorne First Assistant, Elizabeth Phelan

Cross Country Team

UNDER the guidance of Thomas Maynard, a new member this year of the High School faculty and a former intercollegiate high jump champion, the Winchester High School Cross Country Team enjoyed a successful season, winning four of the six meets.

The outstanding runners of the team and those who received letters were Captain Allen Bellew, Ward Albrow, Captain-elect Joseph Connolly, Daniel Mahoney, John McPartland, Joseph Russo, and Donald Gray.

Other members of the team who showed up well were Fred Donahue, Ben Schneider, Harold Fuller, Fred Cameron, Lucius Smith, William Sheehan, Lincoln Grindle, and Bradford Darling. The team was ably managed by Norman Thornton. His assistants were Thomas Underwood and Robert Parish.

The results of the six meets were:

Winchester	28	—	Reading	33
*Winchester	35	—	Woburn	20
Winchester	23	—	Stoneham	34
Winchester	33	—	Wakefield	22
*Winchester	20	—	Reading	44
Winchester	27	—	Wellesley	36

The lowest score is the winner.

* At Winchester.

Girls' Basketball

This year's basketball season can adequately be described as a most outstanding one. The first team was fortunate to be captained by Loretta Gaffney and to have a fine forward like Gertrude Meserve, who is a new-comer to Winchester. The girls practiced hard three days a week, and played surrounding schools losing only two games.

This year ends the high school career of many of our fine players, including Ruth LeRoy, Martha Kimball, Marjorie Stevenson, and Lydia Rogers. Our coach, Miss Young, made this statement, "Marjorie Stevenson is perhaps one of the most outstanding guards that I have seen in all the schools we have played." Although this makes the success of our next team seem a bit dubious, the Sophomores and Juniors, with some excellent players, give promise of upholding the prestige of Winchester.

The recipients of first team letters: Capt. Loretta Gaffney, c.; Martha Kimball, sc.; Gertrude Meserve, f.; Ruth Leroy, f.; Marjorie Stevenson, g.; Lydia Rogers, g.

The second team also enjoyed a successful season. The participants were: Capt. Jean Fowler, Shirley Smith, Judy Hersom, Margaret Shaughnessy, Katharine Hall, Jean Tarbell.

BOYS' BASKETBALL TEAM

Basketball

THE W. H. S. 1937 Basketball Team was well balanced and coordinated. The team had no individual star, and the success of the team is equally shared by each player because of sheer perseverance throughout the season. Because of this spirit of determination, the team finished in a tie for second place in the Middlesex League with Lexington High. Reading High was the undefeated champion of the league.

For the first time in four years Winchester was the victor over its ancient rival, Woburn, in the final game of the season by the score of 29-28 in a closely contested game.

The Second Team displayed its capability by winning the league championship among the second teams, losing but one league game to the Reading Seconds. Much credit is due to Coach Bartlett for guiding his team to the league championship for the second successive year.

The leading scorers, and lettermen of the varsity were: Captain Libonio Gaudioso, 80 points; Daniel Coss, 56; Jummie Donaghey, 44; Captain-elect Richard Hakanson, 35; and Robert Donaghey, 29. Louis Errico and Douglas Graham comprise the remainder of the varsity.

The results of the games were:

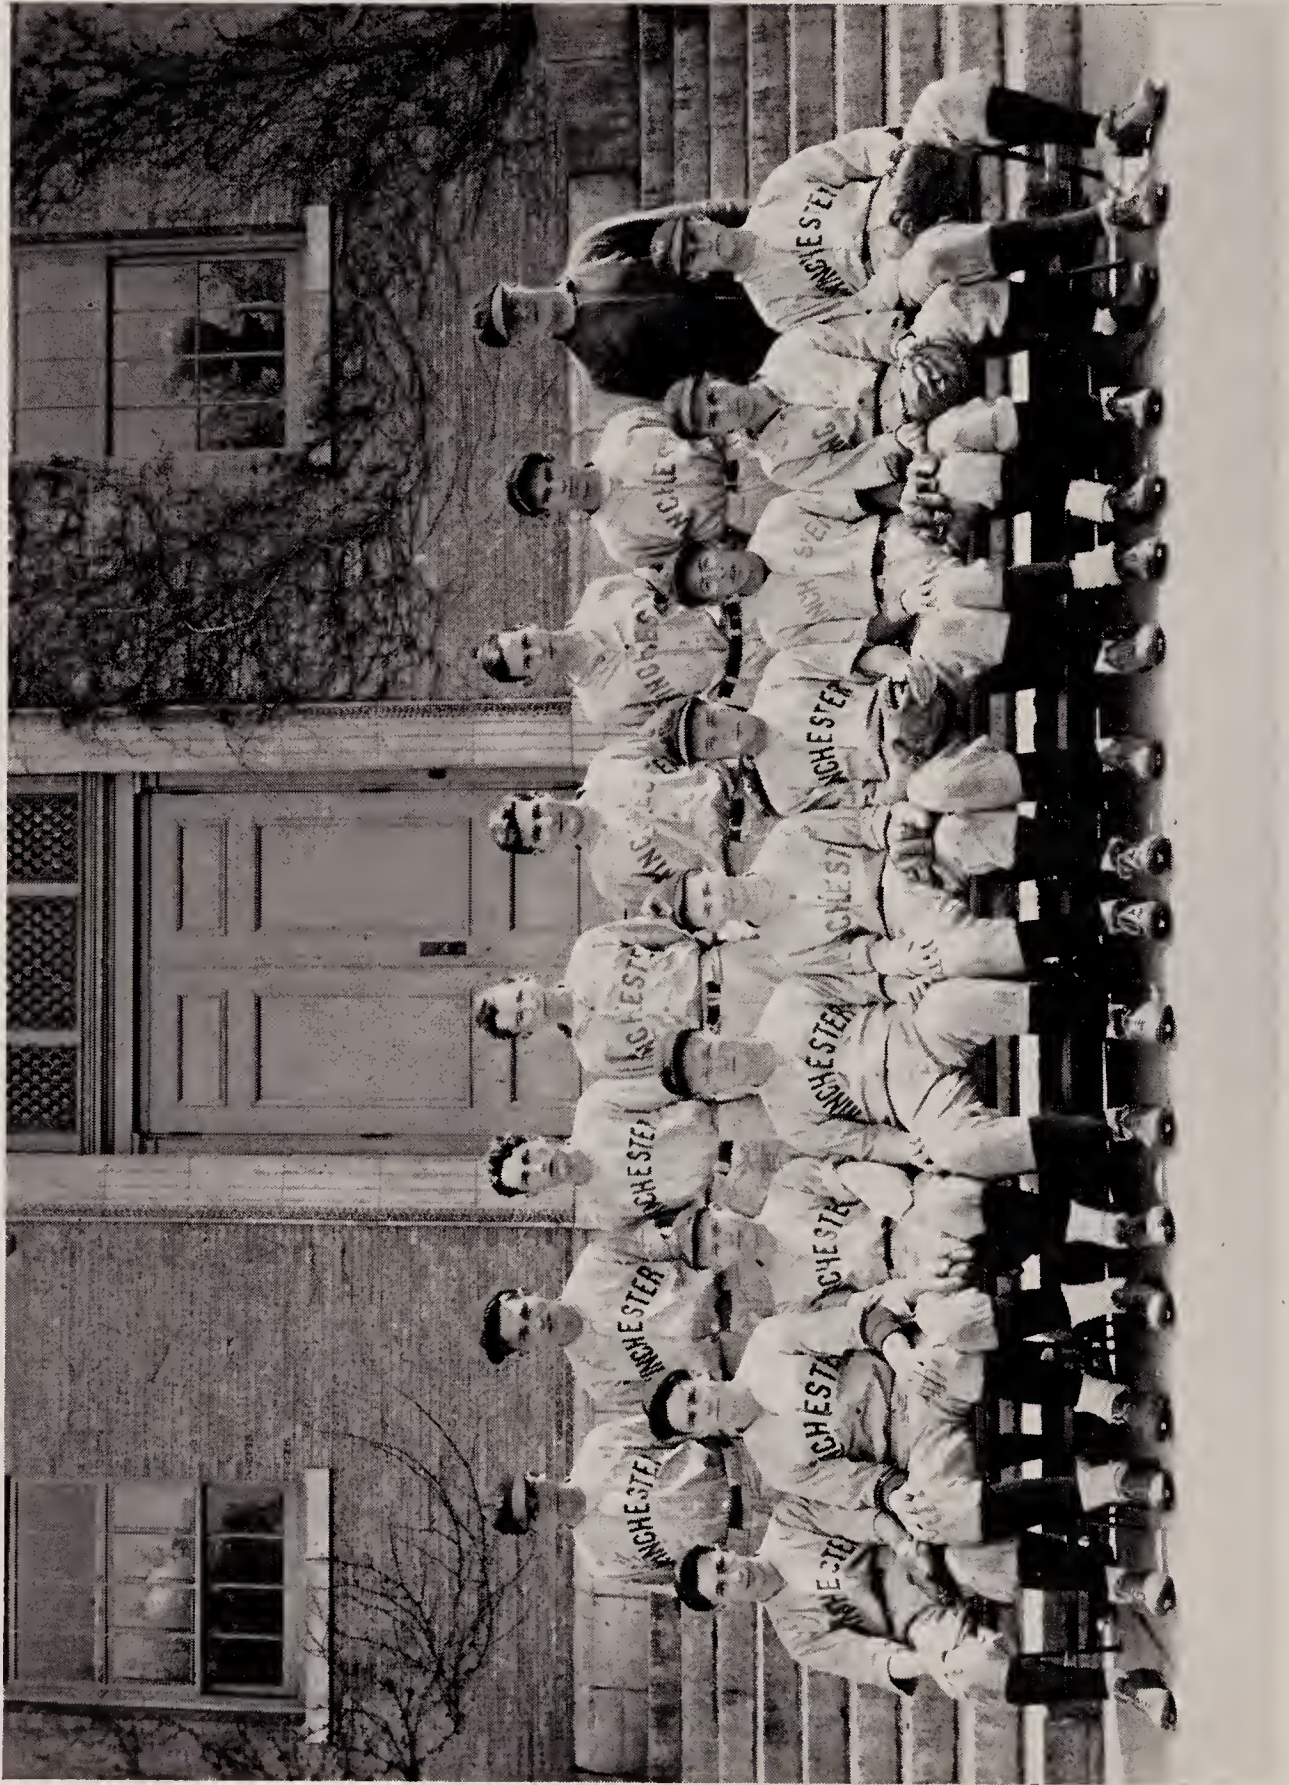

*Winchester	14	—	Lexington	13
Winchester	31	—	Stoneham	16
Winchester	16	—	Wakefield	20
*Winchester	18	—	Belmont	15
*Winchester	18	—	Reading	40
Winchester	20	—	Woburn	29
Winchester	15	—	Lexington	29
Winchester	23	—	Reading	29
*Winchester	19	—	Wakefield	15

BASEBALL SQUAD

Boys' Baseball

THE 1937 Baseball Team's results were much more gratifying than anticipated early in the season, with only two veterans returning, Capt. "Rusty" Donaghey and Bill Smith. As the season rolled along the team continued to improve in all departments, especially the pitching. Carl Johnson, ace southpaw was the most consistent pitcher, completing many full games and acting in a relief roll in a number of games.

Captain Donaghey continued his powerful batting as a year ago, driving in many runs. Anthony De Teso, a freshman, filled in well at shortstop, after John Farley was injured, and proved to be one of the heaviest hitters on the team.

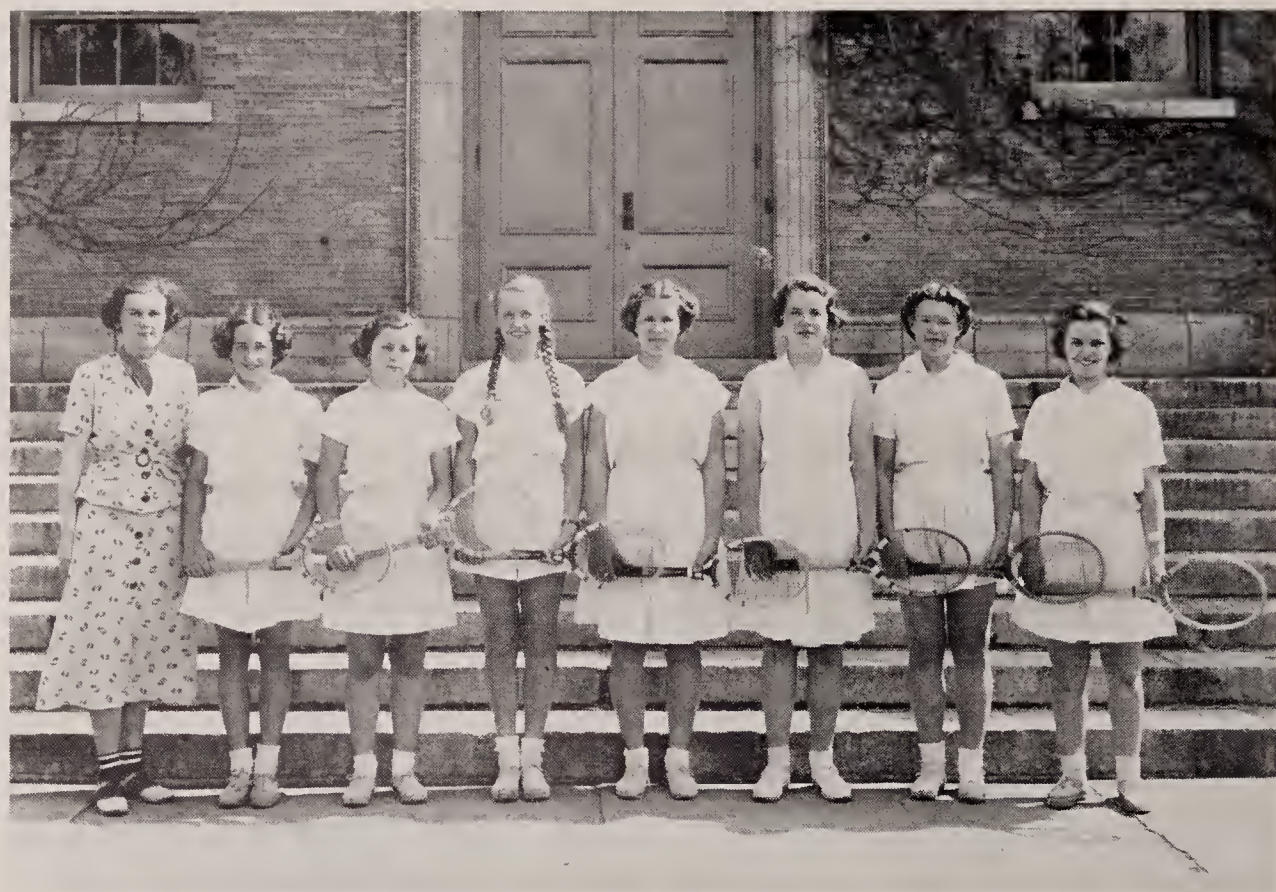

The first string lineup was Capt. Robert Donaghey, sturdy catcher; Bill Smith, classy fielding first sacker; Eddie Kenney, lead-off man, second base; "Piggy" De Teso, shortstop; "Ducky" Rallo, half-pint of dynamite, and Joe Phelan shared the honors at third base. Ralph Murphy, all-round player, Clement Bairstow, rangy fly catcher, and "Junnie" Donaghey, smart hitter, formed the outfield. The pitching staff consisted of Carl Johnson, crafty southpaw; Thomas Kenton, curve ball artist; Richard McNeilly, speed king; David "Jupiter" Harris, and Robert Farrell, new sensation who promises to be a future strike-out king.

Richard Hakanson, hoop star, managed the team in a very satisfactory manner.

Considering the lack of material, it should be emphasized that Coach Mansfield did a fine job in developing the team which had a successful season in many ways using the new enclosed diamond for the first time.

The results of the games are as follows:

Winchester	9	—	Lexington	8
Winchester	6	—	Concord	8
Winchester	1	—	Reading	12
Winchester	21	—	Stoneham	24
Winchester	10	—	Belmont	9
Winchester	6	—	Maynard	2
Winchester	9	—	Woburn	8
Winchester	2	—	Lexington	2
Winchester	5	—	Concord	4
Winchester	5	—	Reading	6
Winchester	0	—	Belmont	3

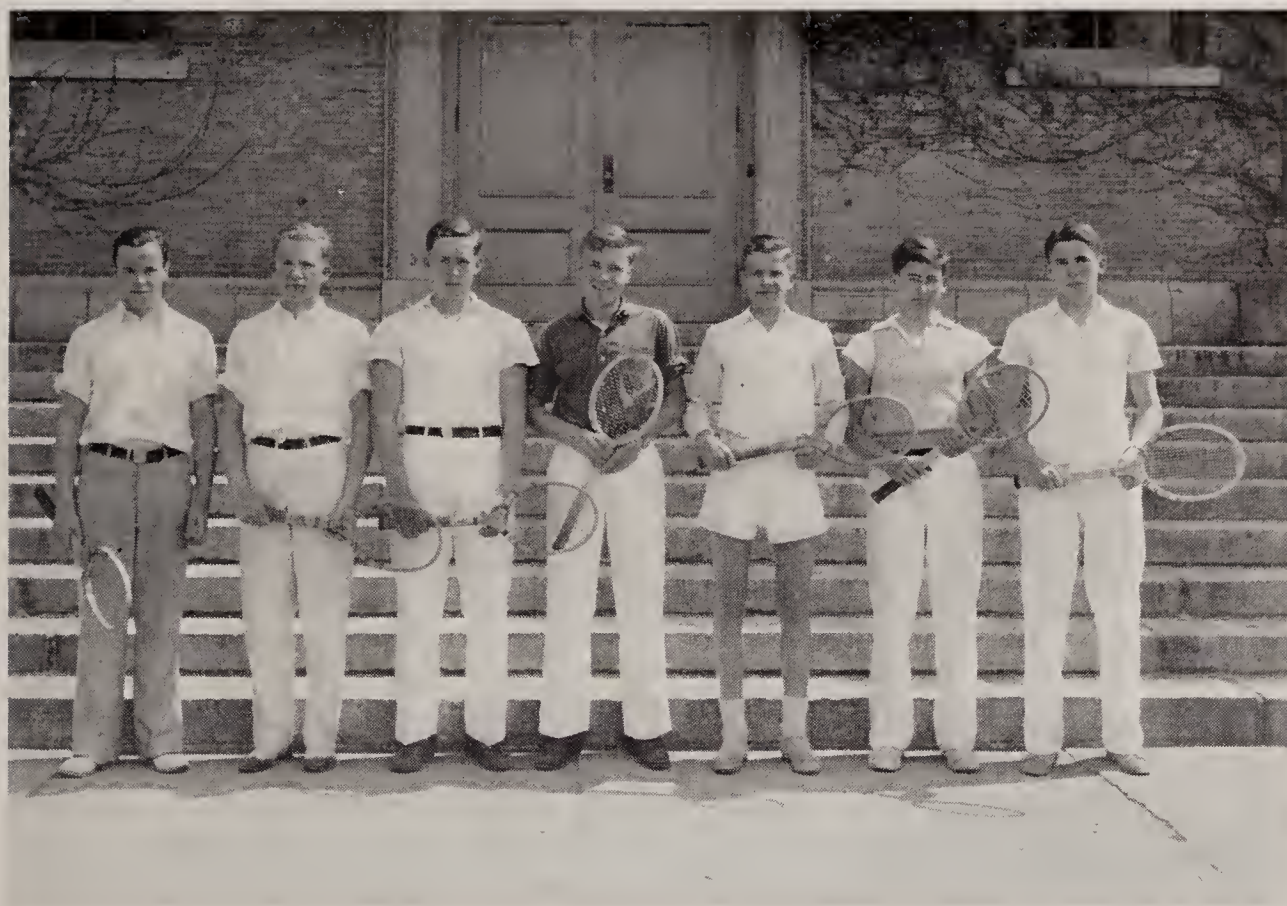

Girls' Tennis

THE annual vacation tournament again opened the tennis season. This year's team was very unusual in that it consisted of three seniors and four freshmen. The results of many hard fought matches were as follows: Frances Keyes, freshman, No. 1; Dorothy Bruno, senior and captain, No. 2; and Priscilla Tapley, freshman, No. 3. Margaret Greene, a freshman, and Barbara Ekern, a senior, made up the first doubles. The second set of doubles consisted of Jean Drake, a freshman, and Mary Alice Mason, a senior. Muriel Blomquist and her assistant, Jane Kimball, worked hard as managers.

The results of the games are as follows:

Winchester	5	—	Malden	0
Winchester	5	—	Melrose	0
Winchester	5	—	Belmont	0
Winchester	4	—	Brookline	1
Winchester	5	—	Arlington	0
Winchester	5	—	Watertown	0

Boys' Tennis Team

THE 1937 Tennis Team upheld the traditional high standard of former years. The team was captained by Richard Sexton who, due to his all-round ability played No. 1 position. Raymond Bancroft, the steadiest man on the team played No. 2, and won most of his matches due to his timely placements. Richard Bugbee, No. 3, was a valuable man at all times winning his matches by his fine serves and net play. Douglas Graham, No. 4, was unfortunately unable to play regularly due to injury. In the doubles, Thomas Worthen, No. 5, played a well-balanced game, teaming with Richard Bugbee. Harold Salzman, competed in No. 6 position, and Manager David Riley, who was No. 7, seems to be following in the footsteps of his father and brother, he handled the business of the team very satisfactorily.

The results of the matches were:

Winchester	5	—	M. I. T. Jrs.	4
Winchester	5	—	Rivers	0
Winchester	7	—	Haverhill	2
Winchester	3	—	Quincy	2
Winchester	7	—	Middlesex	2
Winchester	2	—	Newton	6
Winchester	6	—	Tufts Frosh	2
Winchester	2	—	Milton	7

Fourth place in Interscholastic matches.

TRACK SQUAD

Track Team

The results of the 1937 Track Team were very satisfying. Competing against much stronger teams throughout the season the Winchester cinder men made a fine record. The team's success was unquestionably due to the excellent coaching by Thomas Maynard, who is the best track coach that Winchester has had in many years. Under his guidance Captain John Downs was a consistent point gatherer in the high jump. Bob Gardner became one of the best shot putters in high school ranks, Elbridge Davis, in his first year of track, developed into a very fine miler, James Moran placed consistently in the broad jump, and the dashes; and Charles Reeves continued to be one of the fastest sprintmen representing Winchester in a long time. Gerald Ficociello did himself proud in the pole vault, discus and javelin throwing events.

The following were the outstanding performers in each event.

One Hundred Yard Dash—Charles Reeves, James Moran and Francis Murray.

Two Hundred and Twenty Yard Dash—Charles Reeves, James Moran, and Peter Sibley.

Quarter Mile—Francis Murray, Jack Finger, and Herbert Rutledge.

Half Mile—Lucius Smith, Ben Schneider, Joseph Connolly, Harold Fuller, and Fred Cameron.

Mile—Elbridge Davis, John McPartlin, Daniel Mahoney, and Fred Donahue.

Shot Put—Bob Gardner, Gerald Ficociello, and Donald Howard.

Broad Jump—James Moran, Charles Reeves, and Lucius Smith.

High Jump—Captain John Downs, Herbert Wood, and Donald Linell.

Pole Vault—Gerald Ficociello, and John Bosman.

Discus and Javelin—Gerald Ficociello, and John Downs.

There should be much praise given to all members of the team for their tireless effort throughout the season. Every man tried his very best at all times and win or lose their determination was never daunted.

Thomas Underwood, manager and his assistant John Kishler and Robert Parish are to be heartily congratulated for their fine help to the coach and the track members.

The following are the results of the first meets.

Winchester	26	—Arlington	55
Winchester	22	—Belmont	59
Winchester	34½	—Concord	46½
Winchester	61	—Wellesley	20
Winchester	42½	—Exeter 2nd Team	47 2-3

Girls' Baseball

THE group of girls that made up this year's baseball team practiced several days each week and played three surrounding schools. They showed great progress under the captainship of Peggy Shinnick. Peggy was not only a good captain, but she was an alert and dependable first baseman. Shirley Smith is said to be the best player on the team. She is the cause of her opponents striking out so often. Pitching isn't her only accomplishment in this line. You should see her hit! Credit should also be given to Betty Collins, a sophomore, who was an especially good catcher.

Much team work and good sportsmanship was displayed by each member of the squad, namely: M. Blaisdell, C. Bond, J. Clement, B. Collins, A. Coyne, G. Croughwell, L. Gaffney, M. Gaun, M. Hill, G. Mason, M. Neilly, M. Samuels, J. Saunders, P. Shinnick, S. Smith, M. Terhune, B. Wilde, Jean Fowler, manager, and Audrey Samuels, assistant manager.

BABY PICTURE NO. II

Whether you know these folks or not, you'll have a lot of fun guessing who is who. Notice the two inseparables in the middle. Who is the cute little cross-eyed lass second from left in the upper row? Is the middle left going to cry? The smile on the upper second from right was as prominent then as it is now.

Turn to the last page preceding our advertising section and you will find out who is who.

Dramatic Society

President Barbara Hickey
 Vice-President Dick Sexton
 Secretary Helen Pentz
 Treasurer Frances-Jane Hayden

The Dramatic Society this year, although its inspiration and guiding light, Miss Bailey, and all the freshmen have been separated from the rest of the high school, has claimed as many members as ever before, 155.

The first project attempted by the society was the delightful Christmas play, "Why the Chimes Rang". It was the first serious Christmas pageant given for several years, but the response was very gratifying to all those who took part. The cast included members from all grades.

Since Miss Bailey found it increasingly difficult to coach from her position in the Wadleigh, Mr. Maynard, a new-comer this year, has undertaken to provide the amazing amount of new talent with the opportunity to take part in short plays. For the first of these, "Caleb Stone's Death Watch", 62 applicants turned out and almost the entire cast was finally made up of people who had never been on the high school stage before. The play was a great success and rehearsals for a second one were well under way, when Mr. Maynard's sudden illness made it necessary to stop them.

Miss Bailey also produced an all-freshmen play "The Trial of Jimmy Slang". It showed that the school has much to look forward to from a class whose members are such promising actors, actresses, and stage hands.

As this goes to press plans are being made for the annual society party.

The Highlights

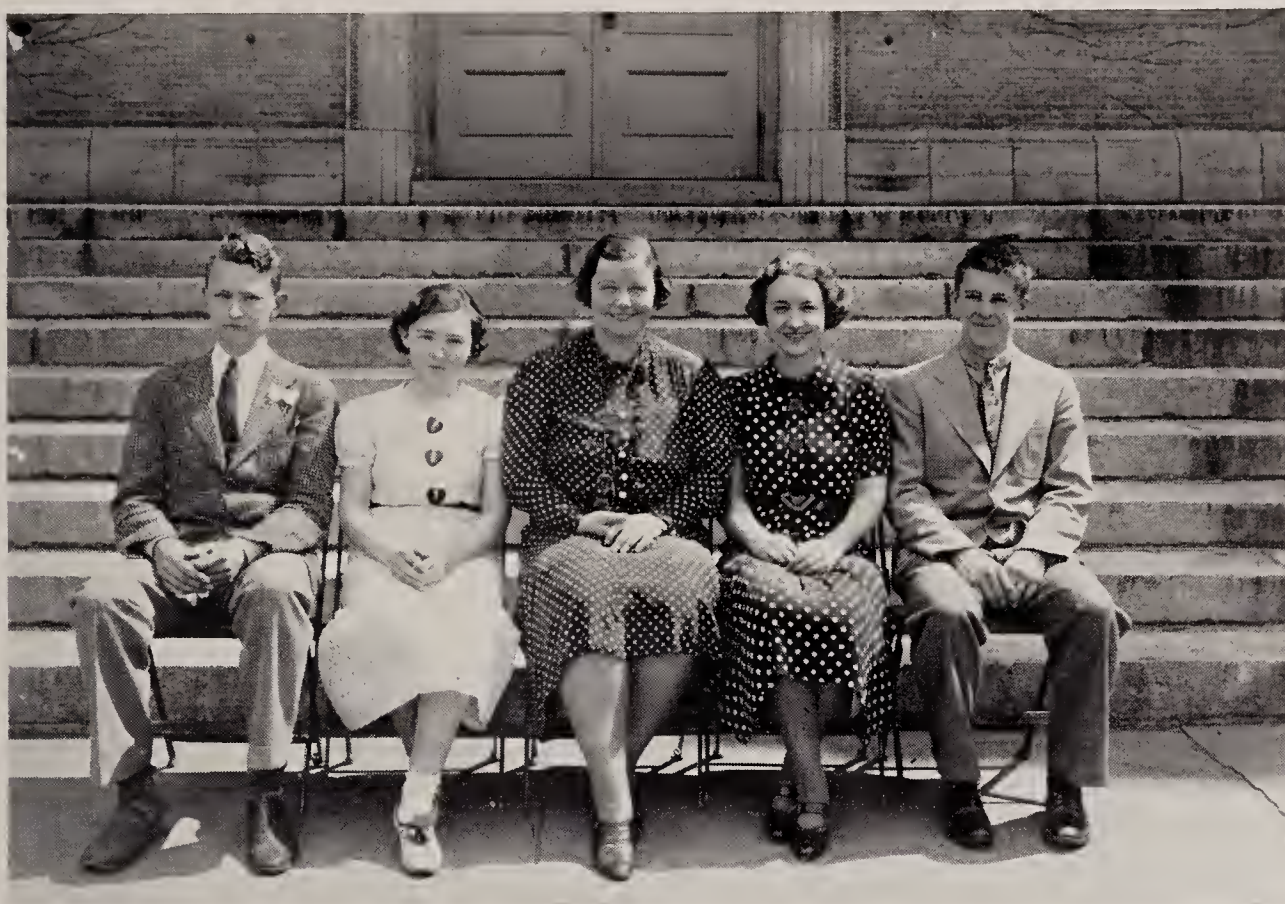

*I*N the fall of 1936, a complete reorganization of the Highlights staff and publication occurred.

Contrary to the custom of former years, the Highlights was published bi-weekly with ten issues a year, during the school term, except during vacation weeks. Also, the size of the paper was made considerably larger, and the price raised to ten cents an issue to insure subscription buying.

With the cooperation of members of the student body, efforts were made to satisfy the desires of the school as to the type of publication to be edited. A great amount of work, a lot of which did not appear on the surface, has been accomplished by these staff members, who have ever stressed the idea of "thinking of the reader" when contributing to an issue.

Fortunately the staff has been comprised of a surprising number of Juniors, whose valuable experience the past year will aid considerably in continuing the publication next fall.

TO BE MORE SPECIFIC

In answer to the announcement that there would be a French Club organized, more than eighty students, eager to become more proficient "parlez-vous"- ers, assembled on October 8th in Room 22, where Miss Mackedon appointed a committee to nominate officers and to draw up a constitution.

At the second meeting the constitution was adopted and the following officers elected:

President	Marjorie Rush, '37
Vice-President	Bradford Darling, '38
Secretary	Eleanor Jenkins, '38
Treasurer	Max LeRoy, '37

The next meeting on October 29 was devoted to singing and playing games in French. In addition Margaret Carroll, '38, gave a report on the Statue of Liberty.

At the "reunion" of November, Miss Mackedon conducted a sightseeing tour with slides of Paris and of all France. Ward Albro proved invaluable as the projection-machine operator.

Then the Christmas party—with eats! But before the hungry lines formed—and attempted without success to re-form!—the pupils of the French II class presented "Le Bazar Parisien" with Eleanor Greene, giving an excellent performance. George Manning doubled for Pere Noel and the gifts were expensive and in some cases, unexpected.

Due to the large number of members, it was thought advisable to divide the club into two groups. In January the third year students met, while the second year meeting was held in March. Both of these meetings consisted of French games of various kinds.

There were no meetings in February and April. In May, the month of Joan of Arc, plays written and produced by members of the French III classes were presented, together with special reports on Joan of Arc.

The last meeting of the year was given over to the election of officers. After the balloting, refreshments were enjoyed.

Orchestra

FOR the first time in four years, Winchester High School has a full fledged orchestra—an orchestra which has, indeed, made a place for itself in the musical history of the school.

Composed of 32 members and having a complete, balanced instrumentation, the orchestra has held regular rehearsals once each week at which the attendance was almost always perfect.

The first concert was given April 14 in an assembly program and was a great success. Both director and members were deserving of the praises they received for having presented in such a short time so remarkable a program. Included on the program were such numbers as the Mendelssohn "Festival March", a Grieg "Suite", the "Connecticut March", and a special arrangement of Scotch Folk tunes. Since then, works by Handel, Strauss and Wagner have been added to the repertoire.

The management of the orchestra has been in the able hands of Mr. Frederic Delzelle, organizer and conductor. Mr. Delzelle has done a great deal of work in the field of orchestral conducting, having studied at New England Conservatory of Music, in Paris and in the Harvard Graduate School. To him is due a great deal of credit for having produced such a worthy organization.

YEAR'S REPORT

SEPTEMBER: Fifty Christmas bags were packed with toys and useful articles and sent to the soldiers at Honolulu.

OCTOBER: A large number of jokes and anecdotes were collected and pasted on cardboard and sent to amuse the patients at the Plymouth County Hospital.

NOVEMBER: The needy families in Winchester were given a large Thanksgiving dinner from the food collected in the Home Rooms. A large amount of canned and fresh foods were brought in for this project.

DECEMBER: More than a thousand pencil stubs were brought in during this month and these were sent to the Bedford Hospital.

JANUARY: As this was the month of the great floods, money was contributed by the Students for the Flood Relief. The Community Drive was also going on during this month and the pupils contributed to this fund also.

FEBRUARY: During February worn out playing cards were brought in and sent to the Bedford Hospital.

MARCH: Stamped envelopes and writing paper was collected in the Home Rooms and this too were sent to the Bedford Hospital.

MAY: Magazines was our project for this month and these were also sent to the Bedford Hospital.

Ski Clubs

During the year of 1936-37 two new closely connected clubs were organized to forward the popular sport of skiing. The girls' club, headed by Barbara Ekern and advised by Miss Hall, had an enrollment of 53 members. Mr. Lunt and Mr. Proctor gave lessons for which each member paid one dollar. However Old Man Winter failed to knock at our doors, and after several "dry lessons" at Manchester Field, the season was sadly closed and a rebate was received by all members.

The boys' club started early in December with voluntary conditioning exercises to prepare for the season which was expected to arrive. Meets with Stoneham, Arlington, Reading, Melrose, Newton, and Lexington were planned, but without snow, W. H. S. was unable to prove itself a leader in skiing. The boys' club was headed by an executive committee of three: Kenneth Leghorn, chairman; Peter Sibley, and Ben Schneider; Mr. Stevens acted as faculty advisor. The boys' club presented the film "Modern Ski Technique" to the public in February.

Although this season was unsuccessful because of the weather, it served as a good start towards the forming of future clubs and competing teams.

The Thrift Association

"Bank day today," so read the blue placards displayed so conspicuously in each and every home room on each successive Tuesday of the school year. Each Tuesday there also may be seen would-be J. P. Morgans puzzling over the percentage and amount banked in their respective home rooms. Thus far the Thrift Association has had a successful year, the amount banked to date totalling more than $5,000, with $7.00 the approximate average amount banked yearly by each pupil.

Congratulations are in order to Rooms 1 and 6, freshmen; Room 32, sophomore; and old faithful 13, Mrs. Stacy's roomful of seniors; which have turned in 100 percent performances to date. Commendations should be also given to Rooms 17 and 23 which have only two blemishes apiece on their otherwise spotless records.

Considerable gain has been made over last year's total amount banked, while the percentage remains practically the same, 98 percent being the high water mark and 91 percent being the lowest level reached.

Science Club

OFFICERS

President	George Manning
Vice-President	Clement Tompson
Secretary	Ward Albro
Treasurer	Robert Killam

UNDER the direction of Mr. Alley, the Science Club, now four years old, opened the season with a remarkable assembly. One of the veterans, Robert Killam gave a dissertation on anesthesia, thus doping the student body. While they were in said stupor Clement Tompson cut them up with a radio knife and Lincoln Grindle explained the physiological aspects of that time old fluid, blood. The girls, not to be out done by the male members, put forward their best feet in the form of Rhoda Elliott who expounded on bacteria and Frances Snyder who warned us to avoid green candy since it might be colored with arsenic. The last talk was on X-rays, their discovery and use given by Ward Albro.

During the year several reels of film were shown on paper-making and tuberculosis. Along with the tuberculosis movie there was an added attraction, a nurse, who explained the picture and so making it the more meaningful.

Perhaps the most interesting exploration of the club was a trip to the Navy Yard foundry where huge red hot castings and molds made of sand were seen, after which a pleasant half hour was spent roaming over Old Ironsides.

Faculty Questionnaire

In the early spring the faculty were “exposed”, as Mr. Kenney would say, to a series of questions about themselves.

Almost without exception the entire questionnaire was filled out and many humorous answers were passed in. We wish it were possible to print each questionnaire just as it was filled out, but space is limited. Therefore, it has been necessary to generalize the answers and they are as follows:

What college did you attend? Boston University seems to be the most popular among our teachers. Colby and Columbia run a close second. However, there are many other colleges which have been graced by our faculty. Some of these are: Wesleyan University, Bates, Amherst, Radcliffe, Springfield College, Connecticut College for Women, New York University, Middlebury Spanish School and French School, and many others for almost everyone of the faculty has attended more than one college.

What degrees have you? Ours is a most learned faculty with their many and varying degrees. A.B., B.S., M.A., and S.B. are the most coveted but there are others such as B.P.E., B.B.A., LL.B. and Ph.D.

What are you planning to do this summer? It is easy to see that our faculty is going to enjoy itself this summer. For instance, Mr. Albro is going to “motor in Vermont as long as the money holds out”, another just “loaf”, “business for myself”, and Mr. Hayward “renew my youth.” Two teachers plan to spend the summer months in Maine, and three in Europe, Miss Mackdon, Mr. Good, and Miss Proctor. The rest seem to be planning more studying. (How could they?)

What are your hobbies? To say the least we have a versatile faculty instructing us. A widely varied list of hobbies was on each one’s paper. Reading seems to be universal with knitting a popular recreation among the ladies. Golf is very popular with almost everyone. Miss Mackdon and Mr. Cotton listed “talking”. At least that doesn’t require much equipment.

Whom do you consider to be the best dressed teachers among the women? Men? At this point the writing was very faint or not at all. Some men said “refuse to commit myself.” However, Miss Bailey, Miss Proctor, Mr. Bartlett, Mr. Stevens, and Mr. Grindle were named. Oh, yes. Dan got several votes. Don’t know but what he is the most sensibly dressed from a scientific point of view!!

What is your favorite color? Here, everyone broke down and confessed. Red, blue, and green are the favorites. But as Mr. Alley expressed it “Being color blind makes it difficult.”

What is your pet annoyance in study hall and classroom? Undergraduates, here is your chance to reform. Watch out for these faults: talking, smiles that won’t come off, chewing gum. Girls, according to Mr. Albro (that is sort of a disadvantage to some of us) show-offs, noisy people. One very witty person wrote the following—“What is your pet annoyance in study hall or classroom—both!” Four or five congenial souls owned that they had no pet annoyances, or as Mr. Alley said, “why not enjoy life?”

What outdoor sports, if any, do you have a hankering for? Here again golf takes the lead. Swimming, baseball, bicycling, tennis, horseback riding, climbing mountains and steam yachting were all listed.

What is your favorite indoor sport? Such an energetic faculty! Everyone has something to keep him busy in his leisure (?) hours. Reading (if it is a sport), ping pong, pitching cards in a hat, watching the goldfish, talking, basketball, sleeping, smoking a pipe, cards, games, and one domestically minded prof put down cooking. Oh, we forgot—Miss Mackedon's cats.

What is your favorite dish in the high school cafeteria menus? It's easy to see that Welsh rarebit is tops with our faculty. Fruit salad and corn chowder are next in line. Several teachers put down "lunch at home," but the prize answers were "mock tuna fish" for Mr. Hayward, and "the ones with the flowers on them" for Mr. Alley.

What time of the school day do you like best? There was no doubt about the answer to this one. Lunch period! Although 3.00 P. M., or the 8th period, as Mr. Hayward calls it, is pretty well received by faculty and students alike.

Who, in your opinion, is the best-natured in the faculty? The very best answer given, in our opinion, was "Have you ever seen Mr. Grindle cross?" Although we could say that about almost everyone, Mr. Grindle certainly leads.

Do you ever, consciously or unconsciously, put on your sweetest smile and best behavior whenever a visitor, such as Mr. Quinn, comes to class? Some of the answers. "How do I know? I don't know how sweet my smile is other times." "What do you do when you have company?" "If unconsciously, how should I know?" "My behavior is always above reproach, my smile ever the sweetest." (Miss Mackedon).

What part of the school year do you like best? Spring seems to be the favorite with all. But as one said, "I'm always very happy on the 15th and 30th of each month"—(pay day).

If you had a choice of any occupation, what one would you prefer? Miss Mackedon wrote: "I'd like to be able to write; I do like teaching, although, they say being married has its points." Others mentioned were: librarian, manager of a hotel, foreign diplomatic work, and a doctor. Mrs. Stacy wrote "Oh, hum" and Mr. Hayward—"testing the Townsend Plan for different communities."

Would you like to have a radio in the school? Mr. Albro—"No! No! No! No!" Mr. Hayward—"No, I have two at home." Mr. Good—"One in each room." Miss Peabody would like one "only if it's in a sound-proof room." Miss Hall says, "Yes, but I don't know when I'd have time to listen to it."

What radio program appeals to you most? Boake Carter has a great many fans in the Winchester High School faculty. Rudy Vallee, Jack Benny, Fred Allen, are all favorites. Mr. Hayward comes through again with the right spirit when he says "The next one."

Do you like the so-called "Swing Music"? The answer was almost a unanimous yes—but with conditions. As Miss Knowlton says "all of it except when the trombone "wails." Mr. Alley had us stumped when he asked "What is it?" Mr. Graves says, "Do you call that music?" and Mr. Hayward—"I'm crazy to listen to it."

We would like to express our appreciation to the faculty for being such good sports about answering this questionnaire. We hope there have been no hard feelings and that they have not been inconvenienced by this.
